Steel Moguls Bow To JFK

Big Companies Rescind $6 Ton Price Increase

President Gains Record Victory In Nation's War Against Inflation

By GARDNER L. BRIDGE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Big Steel's drive for a $6-a-ton price increase collapsed Friday, giving President Kennedy a smashing victory in his battle to hold the economic line.

The giant pace-setting U. S. Steel Corp., under pressure from the government and from competitors within the industry, did an about-face and wiped out the price boost it posted Tuesday night.

Other firms that had joined the price rise parade began following suit.

From Cleveland came word that Republic Steel Corp., the third largest producer, was rescinding its price increases retroactive to April 11, "owing to the competitive situation."

Bethlehem Leads

The back pedaling began in midafternoon when Bethlehem Steel Corp., the second biggest producer, announced it was rescinding the $6-a-ton boost it put into effect Thursday.

A few hours later Big Steel followed suit and took back its increase.

The reversal of the industry trend actually came when Inland Steel Co., eighth ranking producer, and Kaiser Steel Corp., big West Coast producer, announced earlier in the day that they were holding the line against a raise.

Government Pressure

This sent a wave of elation through Kennedy administration circles, but there was no letup in government pressure to stop the price drive cold. A Justice Department spokesman said "there is no change in our plans" for a grand jury investigation.

Then came U.S. Steel's announcement. Leslie Worthington, president of the firm, said in New York that the decision was made in the light of competitive developments "and all other current circumstances."

These developments and circumstances obviously included the fact that some companies refused to go along with the price boost, others were wavering, and the government was turning all the screws possible.

Cracked Steel Front

Inland Steel's refusal to raise its prices provided the first crack in what until Friday morning was a solid steel front.

The heavy-buying Defense Department moved in swiftly.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara ordered steel buying for defense production shifted to companies that have not raised prices. He also announced a Pentagon study to find substitute materials wherever possible.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy was going ahead full steam with plans for a grand jury investigation to determine whether any violations of the antitrust laws were involved.

Democratic congressional leaders announced plans for hearings by the Senate and House Antimonopoly subcommittees.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., applauded McNamara's Pentagon buying order, saying "this may be a better lever than legal action."

GOP Deplores Action

But a Republican, Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, said he deplores "the type of thinking that unless companies do what a political leader says they must, retributions will be visited upon them."

Hruska said he did not think taxpayers would take kindly to what he termed government subsidies of this nature "just to prove a point."

Following up McNamara's order, however, the Navy announced it was ordering 11,000 tons of steel for three Polaris submarines from the Lukens Steel Co. of Coatesville, Pa.

It was understood that U.S. Steel and Lukens in the past have each had about a 50 per cent share of the market for this special type steel.

Kennedy Pleased

Roger M. Blough, U.S. Steel chairman, had said Thursday it would be difficult to hold the price increase line if Inland and Armco Steel Corp. refused to go along.

"Good, good," President Kennedy said when he heard the news about Inland. "Very good."

This was a break that Kennedy obviously had been hoping for

Kennedy Praises Big Steel

WITH KENNEDY ON ATLANTIC MANEUVERS (AP) — President Kennedy said Friday night the decision of the major steel companies to rescind their announced price boosts will strengthen the nation.

"The people of the United States are most gratified," Kennedy said.

The chief executive was informed after his arrival in Virginia to watch Navy exercises of the announcements first by Bethlehem and then by U.S. Steel that they were backtracking on price increases put into effect this week. Other companies later followed this pattern.

He issued this statement: "The people of the United States are most gratified by the announcements of Bethlehem and U.S. Steel companies that their proposed price increases are being rescinded.

"In taking the action at this time they are serving the public interest and their actions will assist our common objectives of strengthening our country and our economy."

There were no reports of anyone trapped in the building.

Several firemen were overcome by smoke.

Two and a half hours later, Martin said the fire was under control.

French Troops Encircle Oran

Secret Army Calls Series Of Strikes

Protest Death Sentence Passed On Gen. Jouhaud

By PAUL CHWAT

ALGIERS (UPI) —The Secret Army Organization (OAS) Friday night called a series of crippling general strikes throughout Algeria to protest the death sentence imposed in Paris on OAS leader Edmond Jouhaud.

The OAS sent out calls for massive demonstrations in Algiers, Bone and Philippeville.

Jouhaud a 56-year-old former general, was sentenced to die a criminal's death under the guillotine for his role as second in command of the secret army in Algeria.

Leaders At Large

OAS leaders still at large asked Algerians to fly flags Saturday as a sign of respect for him. The action came within hours after they heard of the military tribunal's decision in Paris.

Earlier, the French army encircled the city of Oran and carried out a house-to-house search for other OAS leaders. They ringed the city with double lines of armored cars and barbed wire to prevent escapes.

Center Of Conflict

Oran has been a center of OAS resistance and it was there security forces captured renegade Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, leader of the extremist forces in Oran. In Paris a special military court convicted Jouhaud for his part in the activities of the OAS.

In Friday's action the army set up a heavy guard on the main roads of the port city to block any escape route to members of the OAS. It also ringed the central downtown area while the search continued.

Methodical Search

Gendarmes moved slowly and methodically through the section in search of remnants of the OAS. There was no announcement on the number of OAS terrorists rounded up or the quantity of arms and ammunition captured.

It was in Oran Thursday that security forces fought a five-hour street battle with the OAS in a major blow against the secret group that has resorted to a campaign of terror to block Algerian independence and to try to keep Algeria a part of France.

The campaign of terror continued despite the Oran crackdowns and by 6:30 p.m. Friday the toll in Algiers alone was 13 killed and 14 wounded. The total since Jan. 1 was 3,619 killed and 7,887 wounded.

OAS Kills Director Of Air France

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — Secret Army Organization terrorists killed Rene Couet, commercial director of Air France for Algeria, on a stairway of his apartment house Friday night.

Couet, 37, was shot twice through the head as he was returning to his home in the residential suburb of Hydra on a hill overlooking Algiers.

He was one of three Europeans killed by terrorists in the Algiers area during the day.

The secret army's indiscriminate murder campaign against Algerian civilians killed 12 others. Twenty-six persons, including two Europeans, were seriously injured, mostly with bullet wounds in the head.

One European killed, restaurateur Rene Gaudin, was shot down in his own establishment. A 15-year-old European boy was killed at Boufarik, 18 miles from the city's center.

RESIGNS — Emery E. Jacobs resigned yesterday as deputy administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service of the Department of Agriculture. His name had come into an investigation of Billie Sol Estes, a West Texas financier. (AP Photofax)

Two Men Killed In Explosion At Chemical Plant

Damage Exceeds Million Dollars

MARS, Pa. (UPI) — Damage has been estimated at $1,250,000 in a fire and explosion which destroyed a laboratory and manufacturing plant and killed two workmen near here early Friday.

Officials of the plant, which housed the Pittsburgh Purifying Co. and Treesdale Laboratories, said the building was valued at $1 million and its contents at $250,000.

One of the victims, William Cooper, 21, of Sarver RD1, was trapped in the fire which engulfed the building early Friday morning following a series of explosions.

Clyde Hilliard, 40, also of Sarver RD 1, was pinned between a hi-lift and a truck which a co-worker was attempting to drive out of the burning building. Hilliard died later at Butler Hospital.

John Baxter, 23, of Pittsburgh, another employe, was hospitalized with possible fractures of the left arm and shoulder.

About 23 other workers escaped unhurt.

The fire, fed by chemicals in the plant, burned out of control for three hours and the ruins continued to smolder during the day.

Jap Students Protest U.S. Tests

TOKYO (UPI) — Snake-dancing leftist students, shouting anti-American slogans, demonstrated outside the U.S. embassy here Friday in protest against scheduled U.S. nuclear tests in the Pacific.

Some 100 demonstrators scuffled with police during the demonstration which came as the Japanese government sent a new protest note to Washington.

The note — second in a week — specifically protested the designation of a second testing zone in the Central Pacific entered around Johnston Island. The Christmas Island area previously had been designated as a testing zone.

Some 250 policemen formed a cordon to prevent the demonstrators from breaking through to the embassy compound. Police arrested two students after the demonstrators tried to force their way through the cordon.

Indonesia Orders Full Mobilization

President Sukarno Believes War With Dutch Inevitable

JAKARTA (UPI) — Foreign Minister Subandrio said Friday President Sukarno has ordered full mobilization and that the final command for settling the dispute over West New Guinea by force could come at any time.

Subandrio spoke at a news conference after reporting to Sukarno on the latest developments in the dispute between Indonesia and the Netherlands over the territory Indonesia claims as West Irian.

"The president has concluded that so far there are no indications that the Dutch are willing to settle the West Irian issue peacefully by transferring the administration of the territory to Indonesia as a basis of normalizing relations between the two countries," Subandrio said.

Defense Minister Gen. Abdul Harris Nasution, in a speech Thursday to a conference of revolutionary war veterans and reported Friday by the Antara news agency warned that war in "inevitable" if Holland continues its hold over West New Guinea.

"Indonesia is not engaged in open war with the Netherlands yet, but time marches on and such war is inevitable if the Dutch continue their hold," he said.

(In Hollandia, West New Guinea, the governor's information service announced Friday an undisclosed number of persons had been arrested in connection with a subversive organization led by an Indonesian.

West Electric Assures Lower Missile Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators heard testimony Friday that Western Electric Co. proposed a cheaper method for the Army to buy thousands of Nike missiles after an investigation of the company's profits got under way.

The new method eliminates fees the government previously had paid Western electric for missiles manufactured by subcontractors. The missiles are but a part of the complex of radar and other facilities involved in the Nike weapons system.

Robert E. Dunne, assistant counsel to the Senate Investigations subcommittee, gave the testimony. He produced a letter dated last June 12 in which Western Electric reported the design of the missile had stabilized to a point where the government could buy directly from the producer, and recommended this be done.

Jerome Adlerman, subcommittee chief counsel, placed in evidence a stack of documents which he said showed that the Army had tried vainly for years to get the company's consent for direct purchase of missiles and other major items in the Nike system.

Dunne, offering the Western Electric letter in evidence, said it was written only a week or two after he had started interviewing company officials to prepare for the inquiry.

Soblen, 61, was convicted in federal court in New York last July 13 for wartime espionage and got a life sentence.

Soblen was accused of giving secret data to Soviet agents during a 20-year period.

Khrush Rejects West's Plea; Threatens To Match All Tests

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev told President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan Friday that the Soviet Union would hold new nuclear tests to match any carried out by the West—underground, in the atmosphere, or in outer space.

Khrushchev made the statement in a note rejecting a last-chance appeal by the Western leaders for a controlled end to nuclear tests. He said the U.S.S.R. refuses to allow "unhampered intelligence" over its territory.

The rejection made it certain an American series of nuclear tests in the atmosphere will go on as planned later this month in an area of the Pacific around Britain's Christmas Island.

Khrushchev's reply was distributed by Tass and broadcast over Moscow radio. Tass said it would be published in all Soviet papers.

"Your continuation of testing and the implementation of your declared decision to hold tests," the Soviet leader said "compels us to prepare and hold tests of our nuclear weapons.

"And in the future your holding of nuclear weapon tests under ground or in the atmosphere, in space or under water, will force the Soviet Union to hold tests of its own nuclear weapons so that the defense of the countries of socialism against the aggressive forces, which do not heed reason but pursue a challenging policy, would be at an appropriate level."

Kennedy and Macmillan had asked Khrushchev to reconsider the refusal of his negotiators in Geneva to accept any form of checking procedures within a test ban treaty. Otherwise, they warned, their own planned tests would have to be held.

Khrushchev urged the Western leaders to sign the nuclear test ban proposals made by the Soviet Union and repeated what he had said many times before that the Soviet Union would never accept Western proposals.

"The Soviet Union," he said, "cannot agree to such a test ban agreement as would enable NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization) intelligence organs to have its people on Soviet territory in the guise of international control.

"You would like to add to what you already have—to the military bases and troops stationed along the Soviet frontiers—our permission to conduct unhampered intelligence on the territory of our country."

Khrushchev appealed to the West to show more trust in the Soviet Union and to stop trying to block the advance of communism.

"Why don't the Western powers put us to the test and display their understanding and wisdom by signing a treaty on disarmament?" Khrushchev demanded.

Former Governor California Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Culbert L. Olson, 85, California's Democratic, New Deal-minded governor in 1939-43, died Friday of diabetes and pneumonia.

Georges Pompidou Begins Forming French Cabinet

PARIS (UPI) — French premier-to-be Georges Pompidou began forming a cabinet Friday despite growing hostility from strong political parties.

Outgoing premier Michel Debre, is scheduled to hold a farewell meeting of his lame-duck cabinet Saturday and then tender his resignation formally to President Charles de Gaulle after a record-breaking 39 months in office.

De Gaulle called another meeting of the full outgoing cabinet at the Elysee Palace Saturday. He is expected to issue an announcement confirming the appointment of Pompidou, a banker who belongs to no political party, never has sat in parliament and never has held a cabinet post.

It is considered likely that key cabinet ministers retaining their posts will include Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, Interior Minister Roger Frey, Defense Minister Pierre Messmer, Algerian Affairs Minister Louis Joxe and Finance Minister Valery Giscard D'Estaing.

But Pompidou, who is anxious to create good relations with a possibly balky parliament, may want to bring into the cabinet former premiers Edgar Faure and Pierre Pflimlin as well as Maurice Schumann, a leading Catholic Popular Republican (MRP).

Pompidou was reported to have offered Faure, a Radical Socialist leader, the ministry of education. Political sources said the new premier wants Pflimlin, MRP leader and head of the last government of the fourth republic, as minister of state in charge of justice. Schumann would be minister of information.

KYOTO, Japan (AP) — Seven visiting American governors shrugged off snubs from the leftist backed Kyoto Prefecture (state) government Friday and carried a goodwill campaign into the homes of private citizens.

The governors, on a two-week tour of Japan, are W. W. Barron of West Virginia; Archie Gubbrud of South Dakota; David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania; Grant Sawyer of Nevada; Steve McNichols of Colorado; Farris Bryant of Florida and John Anderson Jr., of Kansas.

20 Scientists Go Underground In 'Operation Time'

CUENO, Italy (AP) — Twenty scientists went 1,200-feet down into a cave Friday to see if they can find out why animals keep and men lose their sense of time in total darkness. They also will try to learn whether men eventually became able to see without light.

The scientists were 19 Italian college professors and students and a 26-year-old Peruvian scientist.

The weeklong experiment in the nearby Grotto of Bossea is called "Operation Time." It is a sequel to "Operation Dark Ark," in which nine of the same scientists spent a month last year testing animal reactions 2,400-feet down in another nearby cave, the Grotto of Caudano.

At that time they learned that even in total darkness cocks crowed at dawn and barnyard animals went to sleep and awoke at their normal hours. Men, on the other hand, lost track of time.

Prof. Giancarlo Masini of Florence University reported afterward that after only a few days of complete darkness "a minute could seem like an hour" and "no one had any idea whether it was day or night."

This time they are testing in this way:

No one in the cave is allowed to have a watch or any time measuring device. The men are separated into teams of four. Each man can go to bed when he thinks it is night. Before going to sleep each night he must take up a phone linking him with the surface control station and report who he is and what time he thinks it is.

These guesses in the dark will be correlated by a surface team of scientists from the Turin Institute for Mental Hygiene.

The men will check their own performance once more against the time instinct of animals. They have with them five cocks, five hens and four rabbits.

Special photometers are designed to help with the second part of the experiment, on whether man can learn to see in total darkness.

In Operation Dark Ark the scientists were surprised to discover that after several days of blindness they began to be able to distinguish hands and faces of nearby persons. Prof. Masini theorized afterward that this might have been because the eyes became adapted to detecting weak, normally invisible infrared rays emitted by the human body at certain temperatures. He also said it might have been because of fluorescence of the human skin in the dark.

CUENO, Italy (AP) — Twenty scientists went 1,200-feet down into a cave Friday to see if they can find out why animals keep and men lose their sense of time in total darkness. They also will try to learn whether men eventually became able to see without light.

The scientists were 19 Italian college professors and students and a 26-year-old Peruvian scientist.

The weeklong experiment in the nearby Grotto of Bossea is called "Operation Time." It is a sequel to "Operation Dark Ark," in which nine of the same scientists spent a month last year testing animal reactions 2,400-feet down in another nearby cave, the Grotto of Caudano.

At that time they learned that even in total darkness cocks crowed at dawn and barnyard animals went to sleep and awoke at their normal hours. Men, on the other hand, lost track of time.

Prof. Giancarlo Masini of Florence University reported afterward that after only a few days of complete darkness "a minute could seem like an hour" and "no one had any idea whether it was day or night."

This time they are testing in this way:

No one in the cave is allowed to have a watch or any time measuring device. The men are separated into teams of four. Each man can go to bed when he thinks it is night. Before going to sleep each night he must take up a phone linking him with the surface control station and report who he is and what time he thinks it is.

These guesses in the dark will be correlated by a surface team of scientists from the Turin Institute for Mental Hygiene.

The men will check their own performance once more against the time instinct of animals. They have with them five cocks, five hens and four rabbits.

Special photometers are designed to help with the second part of the experiment, on whether man can learn to see in total darkness.

In Operation Dark Ark the scientists were surprised to discover that after several days of blindness they began to be able to distinguish hands and faces of nearby persons. Prof. Masini theorized afterward that this might have been because the eyes became adapted to detecting weak, normally invisible infrared rays emitted by the human body at certain temperatures. He also said it might have been because of fluorescence of the human skin in the dark.

Secret Army Calls Series Of Strikes

By PAUL CHWAT

ALGIERS (UPI) —The Secret Army Organization (OAS) Friday night called a series of crippling general strikes throughout Algeria to protest the death sentence imposed in Paris on OAS leader Edmond Jouhaud.

The OAS sent out calls for massive demonstrations in Algiers, Bone and Philippeville.

Jouhaud a 56-year-old former general, was sentenced to die a criminal's death under the guillotine for his role as second in command of the secret army in Algeria.

Leaders At Large

OAS leaders still at large asked Algerians to fly flags Saturday as a sign of respect for him. The action came within hours after they heard of the military tribunal's decision in Paris.

Earlier, the French army encircled the city of Oran and carried out a house-to-house search for other OAS leaders. They ringed the city with double lines of armored cars and barbed wire to prevent escapes.

Center Of Conflict

Oran has been a center of OAS resistance and it was there security forces captured renegade Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, leader of the extremist forces in Oran. In Paris a special military court convicted Jouhaud for his part in the activities of the OAS.

In Friday's action the army set up a heavy guard on the main roads of the port city to block any escape route to members of the OAS. It also ringed the central downtown area while the search continued.

Methodical Search

Gendarmes moved slowly and methodically through the section in search of remnants of the OAS. There was no announcement on the number of OAS terrorists rounded up or the quantity of arms and ammunition captured.

It was in Oran Thursday that security forces fought a five-hour street battle with the OAS in a major blow against the secret group that has resorted to a campaign of terror to block Algerian independence and to try to keep Algeria a part of France.

The campaign of terror continued despite the Oran crackdowns and by 6:30 p.m. Friday the toll in Algiers alone was 13 killed and 14 wounded. The total since Jan. 1 was 3,619 killed and 7,887 wounded.

OAS Kills Director Of Air France

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — Secret Army Organization terrorists killed Rene Couet, commercial director of Air France for Algeria, on a stairway of his apartment house Friday night.

Couet, 37, was shot twice through the head as he was returning to his home in the residential suburb of Hydra on a hill overlooking Algiers.

He was one of three Europeans killed by terrorists in the Algiers area during the day.

The secret army's indiscriminate murder campaign against Algerian civilians killed 12 others. Twenty-six persons, including two Europeans, were seriously injured, mostly with bullet wounds in the head.

One European killed, restaurateur Rene Gaudin, was shot down in his own establishment. A 15-year-old European boy was killed at Boufarik, 18 miles from the city's center.

Big Companies Rescind $6 Ton Price Increase

By GARDNER L. BRIDGE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Big Steel's drive for a $6-a-ton price increase collapsed Friday, giving President Kennedy a smashing victory in his battle to hold the economic line.

The giant pace-setting U. S. Steel Corp., under pressure from the government and from competitors within the industry, did an about-face and wiped out the price boost it posted Tuesday night.

Other firms that had joined the price rise parade began following suit.

From Cleveland came word that Republic Steel Corp., the third largest producer, was rescinding its price increases retroactive to April 11, "owing to the competitive situation."

Bethlehem Leads

The back pedaling began in midafternoon when Bethlehem Steel Corp., the second biggest producer, announced it was rescinding the $6-a-ton boost it put into effect Thursday.

A few hours later Big Steel followed suit and took back its increase.

The reversal of the industry trend actually came when Inland Steel Co., eighth ranking producer, and Kaiser Steel Corp., big West Coast producer, announced earlier in the day that they were holding the line against a raise.

Government Pressure

This sent a wave of elation through Kennedy administration circles, but there was no letup in government pressure to stop the price drive cold. A Justice Department spokesman said "there is no change in our plans" for a grand jury investigation.

Then came U.S. Steel's announcement. Leslie Worthington, president of the firm, said in New York that the decision was made in the light of competitive developments "and all other current circumstances."

These developments and circumstances obviously included the fact that some companies refused to go along with the price boost, others were wavering, and the government was turning all the screws possible.

Cracked Steel Front

Inland Steel's refusal to raise its prices provided the first crack in what until Friday morning was a solid steel front.

The heavy-buying Defense Department moved in swiftly.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara ordered steel buying for defense production shifted to companies that have not raised prices. He also announced a Pentagon study to find substitute materials wherever possible.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy was going ahead full steam with plans for a grand jury investigation to determine whether any violations of the antitrust laws were involved.

Democratic congressional leaders announced plans for hearings by the Senate and House Antimonopoly subcommittees.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., applauded McNamara's Pentagon buying order, saying "this may be a better lever than legal action."

GOP Deplores Action

But a Republican, Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, said he deplores "the type of thinking that unless companies do what a political leader says they must, retributions will be visited upon them."

Hruska said he did not think taxpayers would take kindly to what he termed government subsidies of this nature "just to prove a point."

Following up McNamara's order, however, the Navy announced it was ordering 11,000 tons of steel for three Polaris submarines from the Lukens Steel Co. of Coatesville, Pa.

It was understood that U.S. Steel and Lukens in the past have each had about a 50 per cent share of the market for this special type steel.

Kennedy Pleased

Roger M. Blough, U.S. Steel chairman, had said Thursday it would be difficult to hold the price increase line if Inland and Armco Steel Corp. refused to go along.

"Good, good," President Kennedy said when he heard the news about Inland. "Very good."

This was a break that Kennedy obviously had been hoping for

Kennedy Praises Big Steel

WITH KENNEDY ON ATLANTIC MANEUVERS (AP) — President Kennedy said Friday night the decision of the major steel companies to rescind their announced price boosts will strengthen the nation.

"The people of the United States are most gratified," Kennedy said.

The chief executive was informed after his arrival in Virginia to watch Navy exercises of the announcements first by Bethlehem and then by U.S. Steel that they were backtracking on price increases put into effect this week. Other companies later followed this pattern.

He issued this statement: "The people of the United States are most gratified by the announcements of Bethlehem and U.S. Steel companies that their proposed price increases are being rescinded.

"In taking the action at this time they are serving the public interest and their actions will assist our common objectives of strengthening our country and our economy."

$100,000 Blaze Hits Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—Fire wrecked a seven-story brick building in the heart of the downtown business district here Friday at the height of the evening rush hour.

Acting Fire Chief William Martin estimated damage to the 50-year-old structure at $100,000.

There were no reports of anyone trapped in the building.

Several firemen were overcome by smoke.

The blaze erupted about 5:30 p.m. and caught thousands of homeward-bound workers in a traffic snarl.

Two and a half hours later, Martin said the fire was under control.

Its cause had not been determined.

60 Invasion Prisoners To Leave Cuba

Expected To Fly From Havana Today

HAVANA (UPI)—Sixty wounded invasion prisoners, one of them with a bullet still in his head a year after the Pig's Bay invasion, packed their meager belongings Friday to return to Miami Saturday with the exile delegation which bought their release.

The "token" first shipment of the invasion prisoners was swelled by an additional six persons from the original total because the delegation was able to get more seats on the morning commercial flight out of Havana.

The prisoners will include amputees, the man with the bullet in his head, another needing an urgent gall bladder operation and one recuperating from heart surgery.

The price paid for their freedom was not disclosed—Premier Fidel Castro asked fees ranging from $25,000 to $500,000 each for four categories of prisoners — but the first shipment was understood to include some men in the $50,000 and $100,000 per head classification.

Delegation spokesmen said Castro had taken their word of honor his ransom fee would be paid in cash through the Royal Bank of Canada at Montreal.

There will be no one aboard the special flight Saturday other than the 60 prisoners, two prison doctors who have been attending them and the four members of the delegation which made the initial contact on Castro's ransom bid.

A delegation spokesman said they would have an official statement on the negotiations with Castro for release to the American press on their arrival in Miami. The spokesman, Alvaro Sanchez, Jr., added: "We will be ready for all the questions we can answer".

However, he did not indicate whether the committee would disclose the price per head paid to Castro for the first prisoner deliveries.

Mass Testing For TB Termed Unnecessary

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mass testing of school-age children uncovers so little tuberculosis that it is "hardly worth the expense," an official of the National Tuberculosis Association said Friday.

The official, Alex Woiceshen, said tuberculosis workers should shift their emphasis from mass testing to selected groups where a high rate of TB might be found.

Woiceshen spoke at the annual meeting of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.

He said industrial surveys also have questionable value unless specific contacts are being sought, the workers are subjected to lung irritants or a high percentage of the workers are from low income groups.

Woiceshen recommended:

1. Routine examination of all persons admitted to hospitals and jails.

2. Systematic follow-up of all inactive cases of tuberculosis, because persons who have been infected sometime in their lives have a high rate of recurrence.

3. Low income and migrant groups.

Maryland News In Brief

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE (AP) — The FBI said Friday agents have arrested James Gregory Roach, 31, of suburban Brooklyn, who is charged in California with violating his federal parole.

The Baltimore FBI office said Roach was put on probation after pleading guilty to a charge of transporting a stolen car across state lines. Roach is a former resident of Los Angeles, where a warrant charging him with violation of parole was issued.

FERNDALE, Md. (AP) — The battered body of a tavern owner's wife was found alongside a highway in Anne Arundel county Thursday. Police said Friday her husband has been charged with murder.

The accused, taken to the county jail in Annapolis Friday, was identified as Robert F. Clarke, 35, of Linthicum. A motorist driving along Maryland 3 found the body of Clarke's wife, Eileen, also 35, about four miles south of Glen Burnie.

A medical examiner said Mrs. Clarke apparently was struck by a car as she walked along the highway.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Detectives questioned a 24-year-old mother Friday about injuries suffered by her 3-week-old infant daughter.

The child, Elaine Brown, was admitted to City Hospitals in critical condition Thursday night with multiple fractures of the skull. Police said the mother told hospital personnel the baby had fallen from a table.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The U.S.S. Roberts, delayed a month by the March storm, returned to its home port of Baltimore Friday after six months in the Atlantic and Caribbean.

Many of those aboard the Roberts are naval reservists from the Baltimore area who were called to active duty last October during the Berlin crisis.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Motorists have done their bit toward balancing the Maryland state budget.

John R. Jewell, the motor vehicles commissioner, said 741,100 license plates were sold between Feb. 26 and April 5, producing revenue of more than $12.5 million.

Last year 709,700 licenses were sold during a comparable period, producing $1.1 million less in revenue than this year.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Theodore R. McKeldin, former Republican governor of Maryland, has been named chairman of a 1962 fund campaign by the Maryland Association for Mental Health.

The statewide drive, known as the Bell Ringer Campaign for Mental Health, begins April 29 and runs through May 31. McKeldin will deliver a kickoff address at a meeting of chapter presidents and county chairmen April 17 at Spring Grove State Hospital in suburban Catonsville.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Capt. W. G. N. Rukert, chairman of Maryland's observance of World Trade Week May 20-26, has named a 10-member working committee for the event.

Co-chairmen of the committee are Mrs. Helen Delich Bentley, maritime editor of the Baltimore Sunpapers, and W. Gregory Halpin, director of communications for the Maryland Port Aurhotiry.

Experience Pays

LONDON (AP)—World War II was only half as tough on the British army in terms of casualty rates as World War I, an official medical history says. The World War I casualty rate ran 95 per 1,000 soldiers a month from 1914 to 1918 while in 1944-45, after D-Day, the rate was 44.8 per 1,000 per month. The history says the reason was differences in tactics.

Reds Who Killed Two Americans Flee Toward Laos

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — A South Vietnamese official said Friday he believes the Communist guerrillas who killed two Americans and captured two others Sunday are trying to reach Laotian territory.

South Vietnamese and U.S. special forces troops were reported pursuing the Viet Cong guerrillas, who attacked the village of An Chau where the four Americans were teaching villagers anti-guerrilla warfare tactics.

The two men taken prisoner were identified as Sfc. Francis Guinn of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Sgt. George F. Groom, of St. Joseph, Mo.

Ngo Tran Hieu, south vietnamese minister of civic action, said he will be able to announce Saturday whether the rebels have reached the sanctuary of Laos ahead of the pursuing troops. Although he indicated the government is doing its utmost to rescue the Americans, he did not appear optimistic that the troops could reach them in time.

Big Companies

since he lashed out at his new conference Wednesday against what he called a "wholly unjustifiable and irresponsible" price rise initiated by U.S. Steel.

Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant presidential press secretary, told newsmen after another White House huddle on the steel situation that Kennedy and his top-level aides were gratified by the Inland Steel decision.

McNamara's defense-buying order was announced within minutes after Inland Steel took its stand in a Chicago statement. Philip D. Block, vice chairman of the Inland board, said in reply to a question that, "We have not been in touch with the White House."

Planned Inquiry

Grand jury subpoenas went out to some of the companies that followed U.S. Steel's lead in what Blough called a necessary upward price adjustment in the competitive race with foreign producers.

Subpoenas also were served on some officials to appear with their price-cost data at a New York grand jury probe ordered by Atty. Gen. Kennedy.

The attorney general was quoted as saying he wants to determine whether the steel companies "got together and raised prices."

"If they did that, they would be in violation of the law and they would be subject to criminal penalties," he said.

"The second question is if one company, namely U.S. Steel, so dominates the industry that it controls prices it should be broken up," he added.

Red Press Hits Departure Of Gen. L. D. Clay

Berlin Papers Cry "Propaganda"

BERLIN (UPI) — The Communist press Friday jeered at the departure of Gen. Lucius D. Clay, President Kennedy's personal Berlin representative, and Western officials said the timing of his resignation provided propaganda ammunition.

The Communists hammered at the theme that President Kennedy fired Clay because the general advocated an aggressive policy toward communism.

Clay, in fact, had the President's complete confidence, but resigned because he had considered his assignment a temporary one and believed he could do as much for Berlin as an adviser in the United States.

Western officials said the fact the Clay resignation was "leaked" first in Washington and then announced officially had enabled the Communists to proclaim he had been "fired" and thus try to undermine West Berlin morale.

Although he plans to return to Berlin temporarily before taking leave for good, his sudden departure left the impression he was recalled.

That is the way the Communists interpreted it.

Opinion Sought On Death Penalty In Maryland

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Maryland legislative committee is soliciting your views on capital punishment.

A committee headed by Ralph Murdy, director of the Baltimore Criminal Justice Commission, is studying the question.

Instead of public hearings, the committee wants Maryland residents to send their comment to Capital Punishment, Box 1491, Baltimore 3, Md. The results will be reported to the Legislative Council, which studies various questions between sessions of the Maryland General Assembly.

Murdy says 1,100 opinions already have been received. Of that number, he said, 54 per cent want the death penalty retained and 46 per cent want it abolished.

Baltimore Candidate Subpoenaed

Senators Probing Organized Crime

BALTIMORE (AP)—E. Thomas Maxwell Jr., candidate for the state's attorney's nomination in the Democratic primary, said Friday he had been subpoenaed to appear before the Senate's McClellan Committee to testify about organized crime in Baltimore.

Maxwell resigned recently as assistant state's attorney so he could carry on his campaign against his boss, Saul Harris, who is seeking renomination.

The two have disagreed sharply over the extent of organized crime here—Maxwell saying it is Mafia-controlled and Harris saying there is no organized crime in the city.

"I welcome the opportunity to appear before, and to cooperate with, Sen. McClellan's committee," Maxwell said. "I feel that I will now have an opportunity to make public facts concerning the most serious criminal situation in Baltimore City."

Maxwell conducted the investigation last summer that led to more than 50 indictments against night club operators and show girls. The charges ranged from prostitution to kidnaping.

He said the Western powers are motiviated by a desire to establish military superiority over the Soviet Union instead of establishing international trust.

Then he concluded: "I would be willing to travel anywhere at any time to sign a treaty on general and complete disarmament under strict international control."

At the same time he insisted that solution of the German question along the lines proposed by the Soviet Union was vital to any general agreement between East and West.

"The question of trust is a very important one for agreements on many problems which are long ripe and overripe for solution," the premier said.

He warned that "the remnants of World War II surviving in Europe are delayed-action mines, and no one knows when the time will come for them to explode."

Cuban Regime Smuggles Drugs Into Country

Narcotics Bureau Seizes Cocaine

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fidel Castro's Cuban regime is smuggling cocaine into the United States "to demoralize our American citizens and to discredit the thousands upon thousands of honest Cuban refugees," the Senate internal security subcommittee was told Friday.

Charles Siragusa, assistant to the federal commissioner of narcotics, told the subcommittee on the opening day of an investigation into narcotics smuggling that he believed the Cuban government is using professional narcotics pushers to move cocaine in this country. He said the government believes it has intercepted only 25 per cent of the cocaine shipments into the United States so far this year—a total of 13 pounds.

Siragusa said the Federal Narcotics Bureau "has documented facts proving the sponsorship of the narcotic traffic from the mainland of China by the Communist regime to South East Asia and far eastern countries, also to the United States."

"The purpose of this traffic has been to subvert the social welfare of the peoples of the free world and to obtain American dollars," he said.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., a subcommittee member, opened the hearing by noting the federal agents have seized several caches of narcotics worth millions of dollars recently. He said recent seizures of cocaine exceed in value the entire amount of this drug seized all last year.

"Cases now under investigation in New York City reveal a definite tie-in between Red China and Cuba dope operations," he said. "Apparently, Communist bloc shipments to Castro's Cuba have included not only consumer goods and military weapons, but narcotics as well."

East German Communists Fight Dysentery Epidemic

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist East Germany Friday battled the second wave of a dysentery epidemic so serious health authorities sought Western advice.

West Berlin health department epidemiologist Dr. Helmut Kochs conferred with East German health officials Thursday on the scope of the disease and how to fight it.

Kochs responded to an invitation from the East German health ministry which sent him a pass to get through the Communist anti-refugee wall across Berlin.

The East German government, which last Tuesday admitted 38,000 persons were stricken and 4 had died, has released no new figures since.

But East German press and radio was filled with warnings to stay home, practice strictest hygienic rules and avoid all possible contact with the disease.

Western organizations with good contacts in the East reported the epidemic hit Halle this week and is growing in Dresden.

Medical experts said the Communist government is grappling with the second wave on the epidemic involving persons who never ate the contaminated butter officially blamed for the outbreak but became victims through contact with others who had eaten it.

Visitors to East Berlin, where western sources said 30,000 persons are in hospitals, will be handed leaflets warning them to stay away from public facilities in the east, to try to avoid eating and drinking, and to wash their hands frequently.

Experience Pays

LONDON (AP)—World War II was only half as tough on the British army in terms of casualty rates as World War I, an official medical history says. The World War I casualty rate ran 95 per 1,000 soldiers a month from 1914 to 1918 while in 1944-45, after D-Day, the rate was 44.8 per 1,000 per month. The history says the reason was differences in tactics.

Reds Who Killed Two Americans Flee Toward Laos

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — A South Vietnamese official said Friday he believes the Communist guerrillas who killed two Americans and captured two others Sunday are trying to reach Laotian territory.

South Vietnamese and U.S. special forces troops were reported pursuing the Viet Cong guerrillas, who attacked the village of An Chau where the four Americans were teaching villagers anti-guerrilla warfare tactics.

The two men taken prisoner were identified as Sfc. Francis Guinn of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Sgt. George F. Groom, of St. Joseph, Mo.

Ngo Tran Hieu, south vietnamese minister of civic action, said he will be able to announce Saturday whether the rebels have reached the sanctuary of Laos ahead of the pursuing troops. Although he indicated the government is doing its utmost to rescue the Americans, he did not appear optimistic that the troops could reach them in time.

Big Companies

since he lashed out at his new conference Wednesday against what he called a "wholly unjustifiable and irresponsible" price rise initiated by U.S. Steel.

Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant presidential press secretary, told newsmen after another White House huddle on the steel situation that Kennedy and his top-level aides were gratified by the Inland Steel decision.

McNamara's defense-buying order was announced within minutes after Inland Steel took its stand in a Chicago statement. Philip D. Block, vice chairman of the Inland board, said in reply to a question that, "We have not been in touch with the White House."

Planned Inquiry

Grand jury subpoenas went out to some of the companies that followed U.S. Steel's lead in what Blough called a necessary upward price adjustment in the competitive race with foreign producers.

Subpoenas also were served on some officials to appear with their price-cost data at a New York grand jury probe ordered by Atty. Gen. Kennedy.

The attorney general was quoted as saying he wants to determine whether the steel companies "got together and raised prices."

"If they did that, they would be in violation of the law and they would be subject to criminal penalties," he said.

"The second question is if one company, namely U.S. Steel, so dominates the industry that it controls prices it should be broken up," he added.

Red Press Hits Departure Of Gen. L. D. Clay

Berlin Papers Cry "Propaganda"

BERLIN (UPI) — The Communist press Friday jeered at the departure of Gen. Lucius D. Clay, President Kennedy's personal Berlin representative, and Western officials said the timing of his resignation provided propaganda ammunition.

The Communists hammered at the theme that President Kennedy fired Clay because the general advocated an aggressive policy toward communism.

Clay, in fact, had the President's complete confidence, but resigned because he had considered his assignment a temporary one and believed he could do as much for Berlin as an adviser in the United States.

Western officials said the fact the Clay resignation was "leaked" first in Washington and then announced officially had enabled the Communists to proclaim he had been "fired" and thus try to undermine West Berlin morale.

Although he plans to return to Berlin temporarily before taking leave for good, his sudden departure left the impression he was recalled.

That is the way the Communists interpreted it.

Opinion Sought On Death Penalty In Maryland

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Maryland legislative committee is soliciting your views on capital punishment.

A committee headed by Ralph Murdy, director of the Baltimore Criminal Justice Commission, is studying the question.

Instead of public hearings, the committee wants Maryland residents to send their comment to Capital Punishment, Box 1491, Baltimore 3, Md. The results will be reported to the Legislative Council, which studies various questions between sessions of the Maryland General Assembly.

Murdy says 1,100 opinions already have been received. Of that number, he said, 54 per cent want the death penalty retained and 46 per cent want it abolished.

Baltimore Candidate Subpoenaed

Senators Probing Organized Crime

BALTIMORE (AP)—E. Thomas Maxwell Jr., candidate for the state's attorney's nomination in the Democratic primary, said Friday he had been subpoenaed to appear before the Senate's McClellan Committee to testify about organized crime in Baltimore.

Maxwell resigned recently as assistant state's attorney so he could carry on his campaign against his boss, Saul Harris, who is seeking renomination.

The two have disagreed sharply over the extent of organized crime here—Maxwell saying it is Mafia-controlled and Harris saying there is no organized crime in the city.

"I welcome the opportunity to appear before, and to cooperate with, Sen. McClellan's committee," Maxwell said. "I feel that I will now have an opportunity to make public facts concerning the most serious criminal situation in Baltimore City."

Maxwell conducted the investigation last summer that led to more than 50 indictments against night club operators and show girls. The charges ranged from prostitution to kidnaping.

Khrush Rejects

He said the Western powers are motiviated by a desire to establish military superiority over the Soviet Union instead of establishing international trust.

Then he concluded: "I would be willing to travel anywhere at any time to sign a treaty on general and complete disarmament under strict international control."

At the same time he insisted that solution of the German question along the lines proposed by the Soviet Union was vital to any general agreement between East and West.

"The question of trust is a very important one for agreements on many problems which are long ripe and overripe for solution," the premier said.

He warned that "the remnants of World War II surviving in Europe are delayed-action mines, and no one knows when the time will come for them to explode."

Cuban Regime Smuggles Drugs Into Country

Narcotics Bureau Seizes Cocaine

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fidel Castro's Cuban regime is smuggling cocaine into the United States "to demoralize our American citizens and to discredit the thousands upon thousands of honest Cuban refugees," the Senate internal security subcommittee was told Friday.

Charles Siragusa, assistant to the federal commissioner of narcotics, told the subcommittee on the opening day of an investigation into narcotics smuggling that he believed the Cuban government is using professional narcotics pushers to move cocaine in this country. He said the government believes it has intercepted only 25 per cent of the cocaine shipments into the United States so far this year—a total of 13 pounds.

Siragusa said the Federal Narcotics Bureau "has documented facts proving the sponsorship of the narcotic traffic from the mainland of China by the Communist regime to South East Asia and far eastern countries, also to the United States."

"The purpose of this traffic has been to subvert the social welfare of the peoples of the free world and to obtain American dollars," he said.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., a subcommittee member, opened the hearing by noting the federal agents have seized several caches of narcotics worth millions of dollars recently. He said recent seizures of cocaine exceed in value the entire amount of this drug seized all last year.

"Cases now under investigation in New York City reveal a definite tie-in between Red China and Cuba dope operations," he said. "Apparently, Communist bloc shipments to Castro's Cuba have included not only consumer goods and military weapons, but narcotics as well."

East German Communists Fight Dysentery Epidemic

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist East Germany Friday battled the second wave of a dysentery epidemic so serious health authorities sought Western advice.

West Berlin health department epidemiologist Dr. Helmut Kochs conferred with East German health officials Thursday on the scope of the disease and how to fight it.

Kochs responded to an invitation from the East German health ministry which sent him a pass to get through the Communist anti-refugee wall across Berlin.

The East German government, which last Tuesday admitted 38,000 persons were stricken and 4 had died, has released no new figures since.

But East German press and radio was filled with warnings to stay home, practice strictest hygienic rules and avoid all possible contact with the disease.

Western organizations with good contacts in the East reported the epidemic hit Halle this week and is growing in Dresden.

Medical experts said the Communist government is grappling with the second wave on the epidemic involving persons who never ate the contaminated butter officially blamed for the outbreak but became victims through contact with others who had eaten it.

Visitors to East Berlin, where western sources said 30,000 persons are in hospitals, will be handed leaflets warning them to stay away from public facilities in the east, to try to avoid eating and drinking, and to wash their hands frequently.

Fire Destroys Three Dwellings

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Fire late Friday destroyed three frame dwellings and a frame apartment house on Larkin Street here.

Families were safely evacuated and no injuries were reported. It was not immediately determined how many persons were made homeless by the blaze, which was in a Negro section.

A fellowship supper is planned for 5 p. m. After the supper, pictures of the past will be shown.

The service Thursday evening will be in remembrance of the "Upper Room" experience of Christ. The church will observe the washing of one another's feet, the fellowship meal, and the Holy Communion.

The public is invited to attend the anniversary and Holy Week services.

Old Citizens Wearing Out Just Sitting

FREDERICK (AP) — A representative of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare emphasized Friday the need for recreation and employment for aged persons "to keep them from wearing out staying at home."

Hilda W. Smith, 73 years old and still active as a consultant in the department's vocational program, said the talents of older citizens could be used on community projects.

She said there was a dire need for a physical fitness program for the 17 million U.S. Citizens over 65 years old.

Mrs. Smith spoke at the afternoon session on the second day of the annual three-day Governor's Conference on Recreation and Parks.

An unexpected visitor Friday was Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md. He told the some 200 persons attending the conference he would continue his fight to obtain federal assistance in maintaining and improving the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal.

The canal stretches 185 miles from Washington to Cumberland through Mathias' 6th congressional district.

Another unexpected visitor was Joseph L. Pavlock of Takoma Park, who is opposing Frank Small Jr. for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in the May 15 primary.

The conference ends Saturday after a luncheon featuring an address by Gov. Tawes.

George P. Mahoney, who is opposing Tawes for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the primary, also plans to attend the luncheon.

S&L Operator Gets 6 Months In Mail Fraud

BALTIMORE (AP)—J. Kenneth Edlin, savings and loan operator, was sentenced in U.S. District Court Friday to six months imprisonment on mail fraud charges.

Edlin, 63-year-old ex-convict from Miami, Fla., had pleaded no contest Dec. 8 to charges of using the mails to defraud in promoting First Colony Savings and Loan Association of Elkton, Md.

Judge R. Dorsey Watkins also gave Edlin, whose sentencing had been postponed three times previously, two years probation and fined him $8,000.

Edlin, who served a federal prison term at Detroit in 1941 in a mail and securities fraud case, was sentenced under a provision which does not permit parole. He was given until May 14 to start serving the term.

One of the conditions of his probation is that he stay out of the savings and loan business in the future.

The government had charged that First Colony advertised a 5 per cent dividend only six weeks after the firm was founded in 1958, and before it had any income on which to base a dividend.

The association was placed under the management of a conservator by the Cecil County Circuit Court last March 12.

S&L Operator Gets 6 Months In Mail Fraud

BALTIMORE (AP)—J. Kenneth Edlin, savings and loan operator, was sentenced in U.S. District Court Friday to six months imprisonment on mail fraud charges.

Edlin, 63-year-old ex-convict from Miami, Fla., had pleaded no contest Dec. 8 to charges of using the mails to defraud in promoting First Colony Savings and Loan Association of Elkton, Md.

Judge R. Dorsey Watkins also gave Edlin, whose sentencing had been postponed three times previously, two years probation and fined him $8,000.

Edlin, who served a federal prison term at Detroit in 1941 in a mail and securities fraud case, was sentenced under a provision which does not permit parole. He was given until May 14 to start serving the term.

One of the conditions of his probation is that he stay out of the savings and loan business in the future.

The government had charged that First Colony advertised a 5 per cent dividend only six weeks after the firm was founded in 1958, and before it had any income on which to base a dividend.

The association was placed under the management of a conservator by the Cecil County Circuit Court last March 12.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

First Sign Of Gain Is The Time To Lose Weight

The time to start salvaging your pre-teen girl's figure — and her future happiness — is the moment she starts collecting excess pounds. Enlist the aid of the family physician. Send for our booklet containing 36 menus that are adjusted to the needs of the entire family. Just write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, requesting "Your Beauty Diet" and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope plus 10 cents in coin.

If you use the following one-day menu plan as a guide to the pre-teen girl's daily needs, no problem will develop. It's planned to give the growing girl every needed nutriment and to keep excessive hunger from developing:

Breakfast: 1 serving of citrus fruit or 6 oz. of orange, grapefruit or tomato juice; 2 slices of whole grain toast, lightly buttered; 1 poached or boiled egg or 1 cup whole grain cereal with milk and ½ tbsp. honey and 8 oz. milk. Occasionally, add two strips of bacon.

Box lunch: 1 cup soup; 1 or 2 sandwiches of meat, cheese, fish, tomato or egg on dark bread; fresh fruit; 2 cookies; 8 oz. milk. As an alternate substitute fruit or vegetable salad, 1 slice buttered dark bread and ½ cup jello or custard.

Dinner: A generous serving of lean meat, fish, fowl or liver; ½ cup leafy vegetable or salad; an average serving of potato; ½ cup of some other vegetable; slice of dark bread lightly buttered; ½ cup stewed fruit; pudding or ice cream and 8 oz. milk.

This same menu plan, which permits endless variety, will help to trim down the overweight teen, too. Basically it's a matter of halving the intake of bread, cutting potatoes to once a week, reducing the consumption of all starches, candy, sweet desserts, nuts, creamed soups, fried foods, carbonated beverages, water with meals and between-meals snacks, to satisfy any ravenous mid-afternoon appetite, keep fruit and raw vegetables handy. And if you can convince the young lady that what she loses by ordering a tomato juice instead of a "gooey" when the crowd meets after school is purely a beauty gain, in the future she'll regard you as a real pal!

The story of the Palms

There were hundreds of trees along the Bethany Road. But no one noticed them. People were hastening over those last few miles, bound for Jerusalem to celebrate the feast.

Then the King passed by. A gentle Galilean with kind, sorrowful eyes — riding to His coronation.

People cheered and shouted Hosanna. Some laid cloaks on the dusty roadway. And then, someone discovered the trees . . . beautiful palms that had stood unnoticed. Their graceful branches became the carpet of the King!

And when men sought a name for that triumphal Sunday, they named it for the palms. It is a day for discovering the spiritual beauty God has planted along the road of life — a day to worship Our King.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The story of the Palms

There were hundreds of trees along the Bethany Road. But no one noticed them. People were hastening over those last few miles, bound for Jerusalem to celebrate the feast.

Then the King passed by. A gentle Galilean with kind, sorrowful eyes — riding to His coronation.

People cheered and shouted Hosanna. Some laid cloaks on the dusty roadway. And then, someone discovered the trees . . . beautiful palms that had stood unnoticed. Their graceful branches became the carpet of the King!

And when men sought a name for that triumphal Sunday, they named it for the palms. It is a day for discovering the spiritual beauty God has planted along the road of life — a day to worship Our King.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 12-year-old daughter is going to be in a piano recital soon. When she asked her father to attend the recital he said, "I've heard you play that piece dozens of times. Why should I go over to the hall and get stuck listening to all those other kids?"

Kathy felt hurt. She tried to hide her feelings but I know she was battling to keep back the tears. I am writing to ask if I should say nothing and let the clod stay home? Or should I make an issue of it and insist that he go with me? I know it will mean an argument but I'm willing to fight it out if you feel it's important. I'm sure I can get him to go if I put on the pressure.

Please say yes or no and state your reasons. —MRS. C. W.

DEAR MRS. C. W.: By all means put on the pressure.

It gives a child a warm feeling of security to know that BOTH parents are interested in his achievements. A father's physical presence demonstrates that he is interested.

If all parents felt as your husband does there would be no audience.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We've never had a neighbor problem but we have one now. Can you suggest something to make life livable?

The couple next door have no children. They are sour-pusses and even a "Good-morning" is a great effort for them. Our three young sons are active and high-spirited. But they are not destructive, and they have been taught to respect older people and stay off their property.

The neighbors left a note on our porch last fall. It was attached to our sons' baseball. The note read: "Everything that goes over the fence and lands on our property from now on is ours."

In the last several months the boys have lost two balls, a hula hoop, a yo-yo and a kite. Shall we let this situation coast along and say nothing? Your advice is needed. —PEACE LOVERS

DEAR LOVERS: Letting the situation coast along is no solution. As summer approaches things will get worse, not better.

Invite the neighbors in for a cup of coffee — and a talk. Perhaps your children are more active and high-spirited than you realize. They may have done some things you aren't aware of.

If the neighbors refuse your invitation, warn the boys to be especially careful about keeping their belongings and themselves off the neighbors' property.

DEAR ANN: We are in our mid-forties, married two years and very happy. This is a second marriage for both of us.

Yesterday my husband received a letter from his son who is stationed overseas. He wants to send his wife and three children back to the States so he can save some money. Of course he wants them to stay with us. "It would be just a few months," he wrote, "then I'll be discharged and can make a real home for them."

I'm in the menopause and the least little noise sometimes sends me flying. Our home has two bedrooms, just right for us. The thought of three children here gives me nightmares. My husband is a nervous wreck since the letter came. He says if he refuses there will be hard feelings. What's the answer? —IN PIECES

DEAR IN: The answer is no and I hope your husband has enough sense to say it.

There are bound to be hard feelings either way. He's better off to say, "Sorry we just can't house four extra people," than to let them come and then ask them to leave because the commotion drives you both crazy.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Eagles To Have Charge Of Lily Parade Today

Fraternal Order of Eagles, Aerie 245, will be in charge of the first of two "Lily Parades" which will be conducted in downtown Cumberland today for the benefit of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

The Eagles will be assisted by girls from Fort Hill and Allegany high schools dressed in bunny costumes and carrying especially-marked coin containers. The public is asked to donate to the cause and white, paper lilies will be distributed during the drive.

Next week, the same group of girls will assist Lodge 271, Loyal Order of Moose, in conducting the drive downtown Saturday.

Thomas J. Hopwood is chairman of the Eagles committee. The drive will begin about 9 a. m. and end about 6 p. m.

The "Lily Parade" is an annual feature of the League's fund-raising campaign and occurs during the Easter Seal Sale which ends Easter Sunday, April 22. George A. Schwarzenbach, Seal Sale chairman, today urged those who have received Seals to return their donations. The eLague he said, is dependent upon voluntary contributions. Funds from the Easter Seal Sale and Lily Parades account for nearly one-third of the support the League receives.

"In this Easter season of joy and hope, what better way to express our inner feeling than to give to a crippled or handicapped child," Schwarzenbach said.

The Seal Sale chairman praised both the Eagles and Moose for their cooperation in the project and offered his thanks to the local high school girls for their time and effort in behalf of the League.

Girls of the Tri-Hi-Ys assisting in the project tomorrow and next Saturday are as follows: Fort Hill — (Kappa) — Sally Seiler, Deborah Arbogast, Barbara Reed, Rita Hout, Carolyn Griffin, Sue Fuller, Barbara Parsons, Sharon Samson, Jeanette Shipway, Vickie Seltzer, Carolyn Davis; (Alpha)—Gwen Wanda, Nancy Shriver, Nancy Weber, Janis White; (Delta)—Charlene Neild, Susie Pyror, Linda Orndorff, Chrystal Courtney, Gregg Christopher, Leslie Thomas, Susie Cyzickm, Linda Holden, Nancy Reed, Randi Reynolds, Sandi Saville, Celeste Smith and Brenda Proudfoot.

Allegany: Carol Ann Kemp, president; Mary Lou Fridinger, Carolyn Hamner, Sandy Abramson, Arvella Alt, Pam Angle, Debbie Boden, Ann Brinsmade, Erna Butt, Nancy Carscaden, Cheryl Chaney, Sharon Cunningham, Judy Dickerhoff, Pat Dooley, Kay Lynn Dowell, Ilsa Duke, Vickie Eckles, Kathy Evans, Linda Gibbs, Karen Gilbert, Linda Gipe, Ruth Harris, Toni Harshberger, Suzanna Hedrick, Billie Holbrook, Karen Holbrook, Kris Johnson, Carol Ann Kemp, Karyl Kirsch, Dottie Long, Susan Mowan, Wilma Nunamaker, Dianne Paul, Carol Ann Petry, Judy Price, Shirley Robertson, Ricky Rosenbaum, Audrey Sharps, Sandy Serf, Davene Sheehe, Elaine Solomon, Patty Trozzo and Linda Wolfe.

Board Splits On Appointment

A split vote resulted yesterday when a custodian was named for the Court House by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon made a motion to appoint Harbert Allen to the job and Commissioner John J. Rowan seconded the motion. Commissioner John T. Mason voted against the motion on two counts, one was that he felt there is no need for the custodian job and the second was that Allen was second in the Civil Service examination. James Sills placed first by a few points.

Mason said that the job has not been filled for several years and the Court House is in better condition than it has been for some time.

Commissioner Rowan said that he based his second of the motion on the fact that Allen had more seniority and there was not too much difference in the examination rating. Mason also said that he was not acting "politically" in his vote against the appointment.

Rotary Cub To Start Beautification Project

Recognizing the validity of a statement by John R. Joyner, the city's resident planner, that Cumberland's urban renewal program will not be confined to the downtown area, the Cumberland Rotary Club has appointed a city beautification committee that will seek to enlist the support of all home owners and businesses in improving residential and neighborhood areas.

Dr. William T. Fridinger, Rotary president, has appointed M. G. Thomas to head the committee, and named William Howard as co-chairman.

In announcing the appointments, Dr. Fridinger said the club will offer full cooperation to Joyner in plans for future development and redevelopment of the city.

"Much has been advocated in recent weeks about proper city and county planning," Dr. Fridinger said. "One phase of the overall program is beautification of our present facilities, and the Rotary Club plans to assist in enlisting the support of home owners and businesses in initiating a program of residential and neighborhood improvement and development," he added.

"Through our city beautification committee," Dr. Fridinger continued, "we hope to create active interest by all responsible Rotarians and citizens in the project. It is our intention that this be a continuing, year-round effort in city and county betterment," Dr. Fridinger stated.

In accepting the chairmanship of the committee, Thomas said, "Our objective will be to elaborate and impliment the overall program that the city planner will work out."

One of the principal targets of the committee, according to Thomas, will be to encourage neighborhoods to eliminate obvious "eyesores." Recognizing that group effort will be required in this work, Thomas said his committee will provide any necessary planning and direction.

"I am certain that much can be accomplished in the coming months," he concluded, "and that the resulting improvements will foster a renewed sense of civic pride in Cumberland and the adjacent area."

County Gets Finance Report

A report from Mrs. Johanna N. Sills, county auditor, was submitted to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday listing the various assets and debits of the county.

The county has a total of $14,516.663.96 in fixed assets such as buildings, roads and other facilities.

A listing of bonds payable was included in the report. School bond issues which remain payable include $63,000 from the 1933 issue, $330,000 from 1939, $85,000 from 1939, $960,000 from 1948 and $325,000 from 1956.

School construction loans which are payable are $401,315.60 from a 1949 loan, $1,993,212.81 from a 1953 loan and $483,064.19 from a 1956 loan. The county has received more than $200,000 for two years from the State Board of Education for debt service and this will speed up the repayment of the various bond issues and loans.

Other bond issues which are payable include $40,000 for the 1943 Memorial Hospital issue and $125,000 from a 1956 issue for the hospital.

An $80,000 bond issue of 1939 for road improvements, $700,000 from the 1939 Savage River Dam issue, $110,000 from the 1947 County Infirmary issue, $640,000 from the 1952 flood bond issue, $60,000 from the 1956 voting machine issue, and two highway construction bond issues of $83,720.93 and $138,337.30 are also payable.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 12-year-old daughter is going to be in a piano recital soon. When she asked her father to attend the recital he said, "I've heard you play that piece dozens of times. Why should I go over to the hall and get stuck listening to all those other kids?"

Kathy felt hurt. She tried to hide her feelings but I know she was battling to keep back the tears. I am writing to ask if I should say nothing and let the clod stay home? Or should I make an issue of it and insist that he go with me? I know it will mean an argument but I'm willing to fight it out if you feel it's important. I'm sure I can get him to go if I put on the pressure.

Please say yes or no and state your reasons. —MRS. C. W.

DEAR MRS. C. W.: By all means put on the pressure.

It gives a child a warm feeling of security to know that BOTH parents are interested in his achievements. A father's physical presence demonstrates that he is interested.

If all parents felt as your husband does there would be no audience.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We've never had a neighbor problem but we have one now. Can you suggest something to make life livable?

The couple next door have no children. They are sour-pusses and even a "Good-morning" is a great effort for them. Our three young sons are active and high-spirited. But they are not destructive, and they have been taught to respect older people and stay off their property.

The neighbors left a note on our porch last fall. It was attached to our sons' baseball. The note read: "Everything that goes over the fence and lands on our property from now on is ours."

In the last several months the boys have lost two balls, a hula hoop, a yo-yo and a kite. Shall we let this situation coast along and say nothing? Your advice is needed. —PEACE LOVERS

DEAR LOVERS: Letting the situation coast along is no solution. As summer approaches things will get worse, not better.

Invite the neighbors in for a cup of coffee — and a talk. Perhaps your children are more active and high-spirited than you realize. They may have done some things you aren't aware of.

If the neighbors refuse your invitation, warn the boys to be especially careful about keeping their belongings and themselves off the neighbors' property.

DEAR ANN: We are in our mid-forties, married two years and very happy. This is a second marriage for both of us.

Yesterday my husband received a letter from his son who is stationed overseas. He wants to send his wife and three children back to the States so he can save some money. Of course he wants them to stay with us. "It would be just a few months," he wrote, "then I'll be discharged and can make a real home for them."

I'm in the menopause and the least little noise sometimes sends me flying. Our home has two bedrooms, just right for us. The thought of three children here gives me nightmares. My husband is a nervous wreck since the letter came. He says if he refuses there will be hard feelings. What's the answer? —IN PIECES

DEAR IN: The answer is no and I hope your husband has enough sense to say it.

There are bound to be hard feelings either way. He's better off to say, "Sorry we just can't house four extra people," than to let them come and then ask them to leave because the commotion drives you both crazy.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, will hold its sixth annual spelling contest Sunday at 2 p. m. in Carroll Hall.

The contest is sponsored for pupils in the seventh and eighth grades of parochial schools of the tri-state area.

Gellner, a member of the faculty of LaVale Elementary School; Brother George Paul, of LaSalle High School, and John M. Cobun, rehabilitation counselor for the State Department of Education.

Eagles To Have Charge Of Lily Parade Today

Fraternal Order of Eagles, Aerie 245, will be in charge of the first of two "Lily Parades" which will be conducted in downtown Cumberland today for the benefit of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

The Eagles will be assisted by girls from Fort Hill and Allegany high schools dressed in bunny costumes and carrying especially-marked coin containers. The public is asked to donate to the cause and white, paper lilies will be distributed during the drive.

Next week, the same group of girls will assist Lodge 271, Loyal Order of Moose, in conducting the drive downtown Saturday.

Thomas J. Hopwood is chairman of the Eagles committee. The drive will begin about 9 a. m. and end about 6 p. m.

The "Lily Parade" is an annual feature of the League's fund-raising campaign and occurs during the Easter Seal Sale which ends Easter Sunday, April 22. George A. Schwarzenbach, Seal Sale chairman, today urged those who have received Seals to return their donations. The eLague he said, is dependent upon voluntary contributions. Funds from the Easter Seal Sale and Lily Parades account for nearly one-third of the support the League receives.

"In this Easter season of joy and hope, what better way to express our inner feeling than to give to a crippled or handicapped child," Schwarzenbach said.

The Seal Sale chairman praised both the Eagles and Moose for their cooperation in the project and offered his thanks to the local high school girls for their time and effort in behalf of the League.

Girls of the Tri-Hi-Ys assisting in the project tomorrow and next Saturday are as follows: Fort Hill — (Kappa) — Sally Seiler, Deborah Arbogast, Barbara Reed, Rita Hout, Carolyn Griffin, Sue Fuller, Barbara Parsons, Sharon Samson, Jeanette Shipway, Vickie Seltzer, Carolyn Davis; (Alpha)—Gwen Wanda, Nancy Shriver, Nancy Weber, Janis White; (Delta)—Charlene Neild, Susie Pyror, Linda Orndorff, Chrystal Courtney, Gregg Christopher, Leslie Thomas, Susie Cyzickm, Linda Holden, Nancy Reed, Randi Reynolds, Sandi Saville, Celeste Smith and Brenda Proudfoot.

Allegany: Carol Ann Kemp, president; Mary Lou Fridinger, Carolyn Hamner, Sandy Abramson, Arvella Alt, Pam Angle, Debbie Boden, Ann Brinsmade, Erna Butt, Nancy Carscaden, Cheryl Chaney, Sharon Cunningham, Judy Dickerhoff, Pat Dooley, Kay Lynn Dowell, Ilsa Duke, Vickie Eckles, Kathy Evans, Linda Gibbs, Karen Gilbert, Linda Gipe, Ruth Harris, Toni Harshberger, Suzanna Hedrick, Billie Holbrook, Karen Holbrook, Kris Johnson, Carol Ann Kemp, Karyl Kirsch, Dottie Long, Susan Mowan, Wilma Nunamaker, Dianne Paul, Carol Ann Petry, Judy Price, Shirley Robertson, Ricky Rosenbaum, Audrey Sharps, Sandy Serf, Davene Sheehe, Elaine Solomon, Patty Trozzo and Linda Wolfe.

Board Splits On Appointment

A split vote resulted yesterday when a custodian was named for the Court House by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon made a motion to appoint Harbert Allen to the job and Commissioner John J. Rowan seconded the motion. Commissioner John T. Mason voted against the motion on two counts, one was that he felt there is no need for the custodian job and the second was that Allen was second in the Civil Service examination. James Sills placed first by a few points.

Mason said that the job has not been filled for several years and the Court House is in better condition than it has been for some time.

Commissioner Rowan said that he based his second of the motion on the fact that Allen had more seniority and there was not too much difference in the examination rating. Mason also said that he was not acting "politically" in his vote against the appointment.

Rotary Cub To Start Beautification Project

Recognizing the validity of a statement by John R. Joyner, the city's resident planner, that Cumberland's urban renewal program will not be confined to the downtown area, the Cumberland Rotary Club has appointed a city beautification committee that will seek to enlist the support of all home owners and businesses in improving residential and neighborhood areas.

Dr. William T. Fridinger, Rotary president, has appointed M. G. Thomas to head the committee, and named William Howard as co-chairman.

In announcing the appointments, Dr. Fridinger said the club will offer full cooperation to Joyner in plans for future development and redevelopment of the city.

"Much has been advocated in recent weeks about proper city and county planning," Dr. Fridinger said. "One phase of the overall program is beautification of our present facilities, and the Rotary Club plans to assist in enlisting the support of home owners and businesses in initiating a program of residential and neighborhood improvement and development," he added.

"Through our city beautification committee," Dr. Fridinger continued, "we hope to create active interest by all responsible Rotarians and citizens in the project. It is our intention that this be a continuing, year-round effort in city and county betterment," Dr. Fridinger stated.

In accepting the chairmanship of the committee, Thomas said, "Our objective will be to elaborate and impliment the overall program that the city planner will work out."

One of the principal targets of the committee, according to Thomas, will be to encourage neighborhoods to eliminate obvious "eyesores." Recognizing that group effort will be required in this work, Thomas said his committee will provide any necessary planning and direction.

"I am certain that much can be accomplished in the coming months," he concluded, "and that the resulting improvements will foster a renewed sense of civic pride in Cumberland and the adjacent area."

County Gets Finance Report

A report from Mrs. Johanna N. Sills, county auditor, was submitted to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday listing the various assets and debits of the county.

The county has a total of $14,516.663.96 in fixed assets such as buildings, roads and other facilities.

A listing of bonds payable was included in the report. School bond issues which remain payable include $63,000 from the 1933 issue, $330,000 from 1939, $85,000 from 1939, $960,000 from 1948 and $325,000 from 1956.

School construction loans which are payable are $401,315.60 from a 1949 loan, $1,993,212.81 from a 1953 loan and $483,064.19 from a 1956 loan. The county has received more than $200,000 for two years from the State Board of Education for debt service and this will speed up the repayment of the various bond issues and loans.

Other bond issues which are payable include $40,000 for the 1943 Memorial Hospital issue and $125,000 from a 1956 issue for the hospital.

An $80,000 bond issue of 1939 for road improvements, $700,000 from the 1939 Savage River Dam issue, $110,000 from the 1947 County Infirmary issue, $640,000 from the 1952 flood bond issue, $60,000 from the 1956 voting machine issue, and two highway construction bond issues of $83,720.93 and $138,337.30 are also payable.

Goldberg's Answer Is No Solution

Labor Secretary Goldberg says part of the answer "to any wage-price problems we may have" is to encourage higher wage standards abroad.

He tells a convention of the International Executives Association that the administration wants to be sure any competition in imports "is based on economic progress and not on the exploitation of labor." He says the administration for this reason "has made the achievement of fair labor standards in international trade a matter of special concern."

Similar sentiments are voiced regularly by Walter Reuther and other labor spokesmen. Of course it would be a far more comfortable adjustment from labor's standpoint if foreign production costs could be inflated through wage escalation up to the levels prevailing in the U.S. Some foreign wage escalation is occurring, of course.

But foreign costs never will catch up unless U.S. wage costs are stabilized at least for a while. If foreign wage boosts were comparable to those in the U.S. the present disparity would continue.

Until wage-price stability is achieved in the U.S. foreign producers always will enjoy a competitive advantage.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

What We Are Up Against

Politics are amusing but economics deal with realities. Most persons do not care whether the economics are mercantilistic or capitalistic or socialistic so long as they have work to do, food to eat, clothes to wear and a place to sleep.

When four or five million people are out of jobs, it does not really matter to them too much whether Republicans or Democrats are in power or whether the President is good-looking and well-spoken or silent like Coolidge and homely like Lincoln. They want their chow.

And this is the most pressing issue before the country today. It explains, to a degree, the sudden emergence of unpopularity for the U.N. It explains the opposition to the give-away programs when Western Europe is relatively more prosperous than we are. It explains the large number of dissident political sects which are arising throughout the country, many of which are based on gibberish but who seek, nevertheless, to express their discontent.

This needs to be studied and analyzed before it becomes so keen a problem as to be extremely difficult to handle. Were the dissent only expressed by illiterate crackpots, it would perhaps not matter so much. But the circulars and letters that come to me are often from professionally-trained persons, from lawyers, doctors, editors and businessmen whose objections ought not to be ignored either by the White House or by Congress. Whereas, General Edwin Walker did not make a favorable impression by his testimony, the kinds of words and ideas which he spoke are constantly being repeated all over the country.

I wish to make this further point: the dissidents are not all anti-Catholics or anti-Semites. Among my correspondents are many Catholics who speak the same language of discontent. The New Orleans experience is not novel; it is only more articulate.

What are the principal causes of dissent:

Of course, I omit the anti-Catholic issue which is likely to exist in an essentially Protestant country. Nevertheless, it cannot be ignored. I recently wrote an article about the POAU, the Protestant organization which takes the same position as President Kennedy on using tax-money for parochial schools. The response to my article was quite different from the stated policy of POAU. It was a 16th Century attack on Catholicism with out-of-context quotations from the Bible to prove a point.

But the discontent is principally economic and while President Kennedy remains popular, the attack is "on the men around him," who are accused of being too young, too inexperienced, too many from Harvard "who do not know the rest of the country," too many Keynesian economists, etc., etc. The President's Cabinet does not give him political strength, although it should.

For instance, the President's transportation plan is rational and important. The idea goes way back to when Herbert Hoover was Secretary of Commerce. The duplication in railroading, a product of 19th Century concept of competition, was already beginning to show the signs of social and economic corrosion. The plan to unify railroads went through the House of Representatives but was killed by liberal Republicans in the Senate.

Subsequently, the railroads themselves attempted to solve the problem of waste trackage and the competition not only with each other but with good roads, motor lorries, airplanes and motor busses, and private automobiles. It became a question of cost accounting. The roads became wider, the lorries and busses became larger, the jet planes became costlier—the transportation system of the United States, from an economic standpoint, is fairly crazy. This was pointed out by the Hoover Commission's task force dealing with this subject on which the President's father, Joseph Kennedy, did a masterly job.

The President's transportation plan might meet a certain amount of opposition from the Railroad Brotherhoods who have been antagonistic in the past to any reduction in the personnel of railroads. Usually, combinations provide for the retention of existing personnel but make provision for no further replacements. This, of course, ultimately reduces the membership in the unions. However, if no effort is made to rationalize and integrate the transportation system of the country, most of the railroads and airplane companies will go broke unless they are subsidized by some agencies of the government. The jet plane is a pleasant advantage, but it is uneconomical. The supersonic airplane will be beyond economic possibility.

President Will Get Tougher With Big Business In Coming Months

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy, who has followed a rather benign policy toward big business, has made it clear to close associates that those days are past.

He was boiling mad at the $6-a-ton hike in the price of steel, especially after he had exerted all sorts of pressure on the United Steel Workers to forego another round of wage hikes. Kennedy had worked closely with his Secretary of Labor, Arthur Goldberg, former counsel of the steel workers, to pressure the union, and he knew of some of the problems Goldberg had.

The President is up against it when it comes to taking any action against the steel companies other than antitrust prosecution. A preliminary survey of this has already been started. But beyond this Kennedy has none of the old Korean war controls to hold down prices. They were wiped out by Ike.

However, the President will make it very clear by various moves that the halcyon days between his administration and business are over. For instance, on the same day the steel companies announced their price hike, the President sent a leter to Mississippi chairman Jim Eastland of the Senate Judiciary Committee, emphatically siding with trustbusting Sen. Estes Kefauver's drug bill.

Kennedy, who had never really come to grips with the drug problem in past messages to Congress, this time laid it right on the line. The big drug manufacturers won't like it a bit, but business leaders are likely to see much more toughness from the White House in the future.

Space Monopoly

President Kennedy was politely put on the spot by Pennsylvania publishers during a recent White House luncheon regarding the control of the revolutionary new communications satellite by the giant American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

"Is it not in the public interest," asked one publisher, "to give the entire contract to the satellite to the AT&T, inasmuch as the telephone company is a people's cooperative with 2,000,000 shtockholders?"

"If you're going to put it on those grounds," the President answered, "there are 180,000,000 people in the United States and their interest is paramount to the welfare of 2,000,000 AT&T stockholders."

The President made it clear that he was against the suggestion, and then went on to defend his plan to let AT&T, plus other telephone and telegraph companies, plus a certain number of private investors, control the satellite.

The Federal Communications Commission has an alternate proposal barring public investors and permitting only the telephone and telegraph companies to operate the satellite.

Senator Kefauver of Tennessee, the expert trustbuster, points out that the Kennedy plan, while looking good on the surface, actually would give more of a monopoly to A T & T than the FCC plan to eliminate public stockholders. "Because," says Kefauver, "when you have one big company operate alongside several thousand individual American investors, the big company can always get its own way."

Mississippi River Monopoly

The President's conversation with the Pennsylvania publishers took place before Big Steel cracked down on his carefully nurtured plan to keep down both steel wages and the price of steel.

Since then he may take another look at the Senate proposal of Kefauver, Wayne Morse (Ore.), and Ralph Yarborough (Tex.) to keep the communications satellite in the hands of the government. They argue that the taxpayers have shelled out around $25,000,000,000 for space development, so it doesn't make sense to turn its benefits over largely to private industry.

There's an interesting example of how monopoly affected American history, which pertains to one branch of the Roosevelt family.

The Roosevelts were the financial backers of Robert Fulton, inventor of the first steamboat. Nicholas Roosevelt, then head of the family, went from Wall Street down to Congress and pointed out the enormous value to the United States if heavy traffic could be started on the Mississippi River. He proposed building a fleet of steamboats if Congress would grant him a perpetual monopoly.

Foolishly, Congress gave him the monopoly. It turned out to be immensely profitable for the Roosevelt family, made them multi-millionaires. Part of Franklin Roosevelt's inheritance came from this. However, it was a tragedy for the United States.

What happened was that all the capital available for steamboat experimentation was concentrated on the Mississippi, nothing on the ocean. In the interim, the British had taken the invention of an American and started intensive experimentation.

Prior to this, the American clipper fleet was increasing so rapidly that it was even challenging the British Empire. But with Britain competing vigorously in steam and the United States tied up in a steamboat monopoly on the Mississippi in the hands of one family, our merchant marine fell far behind.

Eventually there was such a furor that Congress asked Nicholas Roosevelt to sell back the steamboat monopoly, which he did for $25,000,000. In present-day values this might be equivalent to half a billion.

Having been burned on one important communications monopoly, some Senate friends of President Kennedy urge that the United States, under his administration, should not get burned again.

Grim Figures On The 'Great Leap Forward'

By Joseph Alsop

HONG KONG

For over three years, the simple, physical level of life of the Chinese people has been one of the three or four major political problems in the world.

How much have the patient, long-suffering Chinese masses been getting to eat? Is the standard of nourishment high enough to be endured indefinitely, or is it so low that the structure of the state itself must eventually be endangered? These have been crucial questions ever since Mao Tse-tung's "great leap forward" plunged the Chinese masses into unpredicted misery.

A dependable answer to these long-standing questions is at last available. According to labor category, the Chinese masses are now receiving a nationwide average of 1300 to 1600 calories per day.

There are considerable variations from region to region and even from commune to commune. A rich farm commune with good land may provide its workers with a ration of 30 catties (or nearly 32 pounds) of rice per month; whereas a poor commune in the next county may provide as little as 14 catties.

Again, the situation is especially terrible in the poorer regions like northern Manchuria and Shantung province; whereas the lot of the masses is considerably above average in rich areas like the great rice lands along the lower Yangtse river. Nonetheless, the 1300 to 1600 calorie average can be regarded as crudely representative for China as a whole.

This is the level of nourishment, mind you, not of clerks in offices, but of farmers who have to till the fields nine or ten hours a day, seven days a week, and even of coal miners. The miners' response may be judged from the nationwide coal-famine.

In terms of calories alone, it is therefore no exaggeration—indeed it is an understatement—to say that the Chinese Communists have reduced the Chinese people to a state of creeping starvation. But the calorie intake is not the end of the grisley story.

About 90 per cent of the ration is pure starch, rice in over half of China and grain in the north. Polished rice is almost never issued, and the main vitamin supply of the people in the rice areas therefore comes from rice cortices. Besides their starch allowance, the people are now getting only a few pounds of vegetables, a couple of ounces of oil each month, and perhaps a few ounces of sugar. Protein has all but vanished from the diet of most of the people of China.

Finally, the "standard of nourishment" and the "standard of life" are now almost interchangeable terms in the people's paradise. Besides their rations, the Chinese masses get almost no other rewards for their toil. Cloth, for instance, is rationed at the rate of three or four feet per year!

The black or "free" market now flourishes and is even officially approved, except that stringent measures are taken to prevent free market transactions in staples like rice. But a single chicken costs about one-fifth of a heavy urban worker's monthly wage, and one wadded coverlet costs a month-and-a-half's wages.

It is not easy to believe that such a situation is being endured without open protest by the Chinese masses. There is a good deal of medical testimony that such a diet-level is not indefinitely endurable. But hard facts are hard facts, and they have to be believed, even if the powers of endurance of the Chinese people do not conform to much Western medical theory.

The above-given calorie averages are as hard facts as modern statistical analysis can provide. They are squarely based on methodical, scientific computation of the ration figures reported by great numbers of the refugees from the mainland who continue to pour into Hong Kong at the rate of thousands a month. As was unavoidable, more than half of the persons in the very large sample were refugees from neighboring Kwantung province. But the averages were weighted to allow for this fact. Correct weighting of the averages was in turn assured by the more than 40 per cent of persons in the sample who came from other provinces all over China.

In the years since "the great leap forward," immense progress has been made in scientific sifting of the first-hand evidence brought from the Chinese mainland by the refugees. If first-hand evidence means anything at all—and it is the only evidence worth having—the grim figures herein reported must be accepted as reliable.

The worst of it is that these brink-of-famine figures on the food intake of the Chinese masses include the supplements to the rural diet which the generous Peking regime now allows the peasants to grow on tiny private plots. This being the case, the figures raise the question whether Communist China is not caught in a remorselessly descending spiral, from which a vast upheaval of some sort is the only likely means of escape.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

WHO WON? — President Kennedy and Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., got into a controversy recently about whether the government should spend several hundred million dollars it didn't want in developing the B-70 bomber plane.

Vinson, a power in the House, wanted language in a bill which would "direct" and "order" the government to spend money, despite the decision of Kennedy and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara not to do so even if Congress voted it.

Recently, Vinson went to the White House to work out the problem with Kennedy, and came away with an executive decision to conduct another study of the B-70 in return for a withdrawal of Vinson's demands. Although the extra money will not be spent — for the present, anyway — Vinson termed his effort a "victory."

This prompted one of his fellow southern congressmen to observe: "If Robert E. Lee had been as eloquent in reporting the results of his talks at Appomattox, the country would know that the South had won the war."

Alice In Wonderland Syndrome Symptoms

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The dreams of Alice in Wonderland are duplicated to a certain extent by the symptoms of epilepsy and migraine. Instead of developing a convulsion, blackout, or headache, the individual feels he is changing in size or floating like a feather through space. These spells are knows as epileptic or migraine equivalents, especially when they occur in persons with a family history of these diseases.

An English psychiatrist told of a 24 year old housewife who periodically developed a feeling that "the ground comes up and I go down or vice versa, so that sometimes I feel myself to be six inches tall and sometimes 12 feet." At other times her feet felt as though they were a yard long and walking on the level gave her a sensation of going up or downhill.

Sometimes her head seemed divided into two, with one slightly behind the other. Brain wave tracings were abnormal and the attacks were regarded as migraine equivalents.

When Lewis Carroll wrote Alice in Wonderland, was the tale imaginative or had the author experienced those fantastic dreams of his heroine? Carroll was a victim of migraine and many authorities believe he suffered from these symptoms.

At any rate, people who develop illusions like these are said to be suffering from Alice in Wonderland syndrome. She had fantastic dreams in which she was remarkably tall or extremely small on different occasions.

Other patients have reported equally bizarre fantasies. One woman had the sensation that her bedroom changed from a cubicle to a long hall. She also experienced distortions of body image, similar to those seen in the parabolic mirrors at a fun house.

EXCESS SCAR TISSUE

F. B. writes: My son has had a keloid on one leg for about seven years. I would like some information on this condition.

REPLY

Skin repairs itself with a scar when cut or lacerated; after it repairs the damage it stops growing. But in some, scar tissue continues to pile up until it protrudes beyond the level of the skin (keloids). We do not know why some persons are more prone to these lesions. Surgical removal is possible but the individual runs the risk of developing another.

FATTY TUMORS

H. W. writes: I do not like or eat fatty foods but I have had five fatty tumors removed. Now I have four more. What is the cause of these nastly growths?

REPLY

We do not know. Fatty tumors (lipomas) are common and rarely become malignant. It is unusual to develop more than one or two tumors but some surpass the average.

BONES LOSE CALCIUM

F. P. writes: What would cause osteoporosis of the spine in a man of 54?

REPLY

Loss of calcium from the bones. This may stem from the aging process, disease of the legs, or deficient vitamin D. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on osteoporosis.

SNAPPING IN HEAD

L. G. writes: If a woman has a nerve snapping in her head, what kind of doctor should she go to?

REPLY

A psychiatrist, if she wants an expert opinion.

REGULAR MEALS

W. A. H. writes: What foods should be eaten to regain strength after a bout of intesinal flu?

REPLY

A normal diet, provided the gastrointestinal tract is in a receptive mood.

WEIGHT AND ASTHMA

D. B. writes: My Doctor tells me I have asthma but my friends won't believe it as they say I'm too fat to have this disorder. Is it true that only thin people develop asthma?

REPLY

No. Asthmatics come in all sizes: small, medium, and large.

TIME AND PULSE

J. P. writes: Is there any scientific truth to the statement that a wristwatch cannot keep accurate time when the pulse is irregular?

REPLY

No. This misconception is as old as wristwatches.

WE ARE MORTAL

F. D. writes: Can a person of 52 live indefinitely with a case of chronic leukemia?

REPLY

No, and he couldn't live indefinitely if he didn't have leukemia. Many persons with chronic leukemia live out the average life expectancy.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

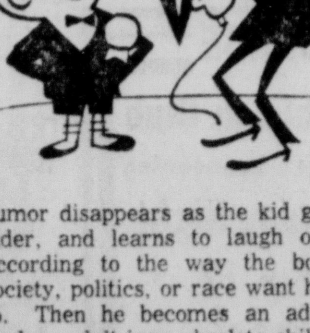
Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

One of the small boys who popped up on an Art Linkletter television show recently wore a bright medal conspicuously on the lapel of his jacket. He explained that he had earned the medal by never missing one session of his Sunday School for three solid years.

"That's a wonderful record," approved Linkletter, "and I'll bet you know the Bible now better than any other 7-year-old in Los Angeles. Tell me, what's your favorite Bible story?"

Unhesitatingly, the small boy replied, "Humpty Dumpty."



"A kid is the last container of a genuine sense of humor," maintains Dr. Seuss, author of the all-conquering "The Cat in the Hat." He continues, "This sense of humor disappears as the kid gets older, and learns to laugh only according to the way the boss, society, politics, or race want him to. Then he becomes an adult. And an adult is an obsolete child."

Friend Of Housewives

By John Crosby

George Lefferts is a chunky, hard-bitten guy who is almost the last person you'd think of as the author, director, and producer of television shows with titles like: "The Cold Woman," "The Indiscriminate Woman," "The Trapped Housewife," "What's Wrong With Men?" "The Glamor Trap," and "The Lonely Woman."

"I'm still standing up under the kidding," he'll tell you in tired tones, "but it's gone on all right. I've also had guys threaten to punch me in the nose for getting their wives upset over being 'trapped housewives' or suddenly finding out they should have fun sexually. But on the whole, it's been a great lark for me."

"The Cold Woman," "The Indiscriminate Woman" and the rest of them are titles for some of the Purex Specials for Women (the last of which, "The Problem Child," will be April 19, NBC) which started out as late afternoon shows for women alone. They were transferred to prime evening time at the request of the women who wanted their menfolk to see them. Did very well in the ratings, too.

"This is the first time in fifteen years of television that I've been left strictly alone. I have tried all the things I've wanted to try and this is the first time television has given me creative elbow room.

"I even did most of the interviewing for the shows myself. I used to talk to women on the NBC guided tours—you get a good national cross-section that way and also a good foreign cross-section. And all the women I spoke to weren't in the least reticent about giving me the story of their lives. Most people don't have anyone to talk to, I think."

The series and the interviews had changed his concept of women's role in society. "After the war, there was a basic revision of women's role and a social lag in our attitude's hasn't caught up with it. Never before have there been so many women who are self-sufficient, who don't need marriage for the same reasons they used to. Never have there been so many women educated for careers which they drop suddenly for housewifery. And there is a groundswell of female opinion against the attitude that the wife, after being educated for a career, belongs in the home.

"Right now, we are at a very serious turning point. Either we're going to try and recapture the old days when the role of the woman was closely defined with little conflict or there's going to be an assault on male prerogatives."

This bothers him. In fact, a good deal of the thoughts stirred up by his own reseaching bothered him a lot: "I wondered suddenly if they weren't harmful, if some of these subjects aren't better left alone. But, as a man on one of our shows said: 'Whenever we seek to learn the truth about us as human beings, it will be painful, disruptive, shattering.'

"Still, I kept wondering if I had the right to point out problems when help may not be available. But I decided either people plunge ahead in this direction or we all go back to soap operas and Westerns. Tranquillizers always have sold well but I don't think the public affairs shows should be tranquillizers as they are much of the time."

He feels strongly that the public has been conditioned to accept a bloodless typs of documentary on subjects that should stir the pulse and race the mind. "Everyone in television steers clear of exposing real emotion," he said. "I think this is wrong. We have tried to present the attitudes and emotions as well as the facts. Here we try to capture the essence of reality. I mean the idea of having a baby is more important then the particulars of motherhood."

But Lefferts is fearful of the future. "Television is something to get out of, not into as it now exists. One has the feeling of rats leaving a sinking ship." He turned to another aspect which, I think, is both alarming and important. "The trend toward public affairs is a good one, but the danger is that public affairs themselves will become more and more sensationalized. 'Tonight we see 20,000 cannibals eat 7,000 missionaries in the jungles of the Congo.' That sort of thing.

"Television has to decide right now which way they want to go, because the outfits sponsoring these shows are the same ones who sponsored the Westerns. Real life is more powerful and unless a sense of responsibility is developed along with the techniques of the documentary, we'll be right back where we started."

He sighed: "But I'm tired and I'm resisting all offers to stay in television. Television — whatever else it is — is exhausting. I'm writing a play. I'm on my way out."

Goldberg's Answer Is No Solution

Labor Secretary Goldberg says part of the answer "to any wage-price problems we may have" is to encourage higher wage standards abroad.

He tells a convention of the International Executives Association that the administration wants to be sure any competition in imports "is based on economic progress and not on the exploitation of labor." He says the administration for this reason "has made the achievement of fair labor standards in international trade a matter of special concern."

Similar sentiments are voiced regularly by Walter Reuther and other labor spokesmen. Of course it would be a far more comfortable adjustment from labor's standpoint if foreign production costs could be inflated through wage escalation up to the levels prevailing in the U.S. Some foreign wage escalation is occurring, of course.

But foreign costs never will catch up unless U.S. wage costs are stabilized at least for a while. If foreign wage boosts were comparable to those in the U.S. the present disparity would continue.

Until wage-price stability is achieved in the U.S. foreign producers always will enjoy a competitive advantage.

These Days

What We Are Up Against

Politics are amusing but economics deal with realities. Most persons do not care whether the economics are mercantilistic or capitalistic or socialistic so long as they have work to do, food to eat, clothes to wear and a place to sleep.

When four or five million people are out of jobs, it does not really matter to them too much whether Republicans or Democrats are in power or whether the President is good-looking and well-spoken or silent like Coolidge and homely like Lincoln. They want their chow.

And this is the most pressing issue before the country today. It explains, to a degree, the sudden emergence of unpopularity for the U.N. It explains the opposition to the give-away programs when Western Europe is relatively more prosperous than we are. It explains the large number of dissident political sects which are arising throughout the country, many of which are based on gibberish but who seek, nevertheless, to express their discontent.

This needs to be studied and analyzed before it becomes so keen a problem as to be extremely difficult to handle. Were the dissent only expressed by illiterate crackpots, it would perhaps not matter so much. But the circulars and letters that come to me are often from professionally-trained persons, from lawyers, doctors, editors and businessmen whose objections ought not to be ignored either by the White House or by Congress. Whereas, General Edwin Walker did not make a favorable impression by his testimony, the kinds of words and ideas which he spoke are constantly being repeated all over the country.

I wish to make this further point: the dissidents are not all anti-Catholics or anti-Semites. Among my correspondents are many Catholics who speak the same language of discontent. The New Orleans experience is not novel; it is only more articulate.

What are the principal causes of dissent:

Of course, I omit the anti-Catholic issue which is likely to exist in an essentially Protestant country. Nevertheless, it cannot be ignored. I recently wrote an article about the POAU, the Protestant organization which takes the same position as President Kennedy on using tax-money for parochial schools. The response to my article was quite different from the stated policy of POAU. It was a 16th Century attack on Catholicism with out-of-context quotations from the Bible to prove a point.

But the discontent is principally economic and while President Kennedy remains popular, the attack is "on the men around him," who are accused of being too young, too inexperienced, too many from Harvard "who do not know the rest of the country," too many Keynesian economists, etc., etc. The President's Cabinet does not give him political strength, although it should.

For instance, the President's transportation plan is rational and important. The idea goes way back to when Herbert Hoover was Secretary of Commerce. The duplication in railroading, a product of 19th Century concept of competition, was already beginning to show the signs of social and economic corrosion. The plan to unify railroads went through the House of Representatives but was killed by liberal Republicans in the Senate.

Subsequently, the railroads themselves attempted to solve the problem of waste trackage and the competition not only with each other but with good roads, motor lorries, airplanes and motor busses, and private automobiles. It became a question of cost accounting. The roads became wider, the lorries and busses became larger, the jet planes became costlier—the transportation system of the United States, from an economic standpoint, is fairly crazy. This was pointed out by the Hoover Commission's task force dealing with this subject on which the President's father, Joseph Kennedy, did a masterly job.

The President's transportation plan might meet a certain amount of opposition from the Railroad Brotherhoods who have been antagonistic in the past to any reduction in the personnel of railroads. Usually, combinations provide for the retention of existing personnel but make provision for no further replacements. This, of course, ultimately reduces the membership in the unions. However, if no effort is made to rationalize and integrate the transportation system of the country, most of the railroads and airplane companies will go broke unless they are subsidized by some agencies of the government. The jet plane is a pleasant advantage, but it is uneconomical. The supersonic airplane will be beyond economic possibility.

President Will Get Tougher With Big Business In Coming Months

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy, who has followed a rather benign policy toward big business, has made it clear to close associates that those days are past.

He was boiling mad at the $6-a-ton hike in the price of steel, especially after he had exerted all sorts of pressure on the United Steel Workers to forego another round of wage hikes. Kennedy had worked closely with his Secretary of Labor, Arthur Goldberg, former counsel of the steel workers, to pressure the union, and he knew of some of the problems Goldberg had.

The President is up against it when it comes to taking any action against the steel companies other than antitrust prosecution. A preliminary survey of this has already been started. But beyond this Kennedy has none of the old Korean war controls to hold down prices. They were wiped out by Ike.

However, the President will make it very clear by various moves that the halcyon days between his administration and business are over. For instance, on the same day the steel companies announced their price hike, the President sent a leter to Mississippi chairman Jim Eastland of the Senate Judiciary Committee, emphatically siding with trustbusting Sen. They are squarely based on methodical, scientific computation of the ration figures reported by great numbers of the refugees from the mainland who continue to pour into Hong Kong at the rate of thousands a month. As was unavoidable, more than half of the persons in the very large sample were refugees from neighboring Kwantung province. But the averages were weighted to allow for this fact. Correct weighting of the averages was in turn assured by the more than 40 per cent of persons in the sample who came from other provinces all over China.

In the years since "the great leap forward," immense progress has been made in scientific sifting of the first-hand evidence brought from the Chinese mainland by the refugees. If first-hand evidence means anything at all—and it is the only evidence worth having—the grim figures herein reported must be accepted as reliable.

The worst of it is that these brink-of-famine figures on the food intake of the Chinese masses include the supplements to the rural diet which the generous Peking regime now allows the peasants to grow on tiny private plots. This being the case, the figures raise the question whether Communist China is not caught in a remorselessly descending spiral, from which a vast upheaval of some sort is the only likely means of escape.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

WHO WON? — President Kennedy and Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., got into a controversy recently about whether the government should spend several hundred million dollars it didn't want in developing the B-70 bomber plane.

Vinson, a power in the House, wanted language in a bill which would "direct" and "order" the government to spend money, despite the decision of Kennedy and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara not to do so even if Congress voted it.

Recently, Vinson went to the White House to work out the problem with Kennedy, and came away with an executive decision to conduct another study of the B-70 in return for a withdrawal of Vinson's demands. Although the extra money will not be spent — for the present, anyway — Vinson termed his effort a "victory."

This prompted one of his fellow southern congressmen to observe: "If Robert E. Lee had been as eloquent in reporting the results of his talks at Appomattox, the country would know that the South had won the war."

Alice In Wonderland Syndrome Symptoms

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The dreams of Alice in Wonderland are duplicated to a certain extent by the symptoms of epilepsy and migraine. Instead of developing a convulsion, blackout, or headache, the individual feels he is changing in size or floating like a feather through space. These spells are knows as epileptic or migraine equivalents, especially when they occur in persons with a family history of these diseases.

An English psychiatrist told of a 24 year old housewife who periodically developed a feeling that "the ground comes up and I go down or vice versa, so that sometimes I feel myself to be six inches tall and sometimes 12 feet." At other times her feet felt as though they were a yard long and walking on the level gave her a sensation of going up or downhill.

Sometimes her head seemed divided into two, with one slightly behind the other. Brain wave tracings were abnormal and the attacks were regarded as migraine equivalents.

When Lewis Carroll wrote Alice in Wonderland, was the tale imaginative or had the author experienced those fantastic dreams of his heroine? Carroll was a victim of migraine and many authorities believe he suffered from these symptoms.

At any rate, people who develop illusions like these are said to be suffering from Alice in Wonderland syndrome. She had fantastic dreams in which she was remarkably tall or extremely small on different occasions.

Other patients have reported equally bizarre fantasies. One woman had the sensation that her bedroom changed from a cubicle to a long hall. She also experienced distortions of body image, similar to those seen in the parabolic mirrors at a fun house.

EXCESS SCAR TISSUE

F. B. writes: My son has had a keloid on one leg for about seven years. I would like some information on this condition.

REPLY

Skin repairs itself with a scar when cut or lacerated; after it repairs the damage it stops growing. But in some, scar tissue continues to pile up until it protrudes beyond the level of the skin (keloids). We do not know why some persons are more prone to these lesions. Surgical removal is possible but the individual runs the risk of developing another.

FATTY TUMORS

H. W. writes: I do not like or eat fatty foods but I have had five fatty tumors removed. Now I have four more. What is the cause of these nastly growths?

REPLY

We do not know. Fatty tumors (lipomas) are common and rarely become malignant. It is unusual to develop more than one or two tumors but some surpass the average.

BONES LOSE CALCIUM

F. P. writes: What would cause osteoporosis of the spine in a man of 54?

REPLY

Loss of calcium from the bones. This may stem from the aging process, disease of the legs, or deficient vitamin D. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on osteoporosis.

SNAPPING IN HEAD

L. G. writes: If a woman has a nerve snapping in her head, what kind of doctor should she go to?

REPLY

A psychiatrist, if she wants an expert opinion.

REGULAR MEALS

W. A. H. writes: What foods should be eaten to regain strength after a bout of intesinal flu?

REPLY

A normal diet, provided the gastrointestinal tract is in a receptive mood.

WEIGHT AND ASTHMA

D. B. writes: My Doctor tells me I have asthma but my friends won't believe it as they say I'm too fat to have this disorder. Is it true that only thin people develop asthma?

REPLY

No. Asthmatics come in all sizes: small, medium, and large.

TIME AND PULSE

J. P. writes: Is there any scientific truth to the statement that a wristwatch cannot keep accurate time when the pulse is irregular?

REPLY

No. This misconception is as old as wristwatches.

WE ARE MORTAL

F. D. writes: Can a person of 52 live indefinitely with a case of chronic leukemia?

REPLY

No, and he couldn't live indefinitely if he didn't have leukemia. Many persons with chronic leukemia live out the average life expectancy.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

One of the small boys who popped up on an Art Linkletter television show recently wore a bright medal conspicuously on the lapel of his jacket. He explained that he had earned the medal by never missing one session of his Sunday School for three solid years.

"That's a wonderful record," approved Linkletter, "and I'll bet you know the Bible now better than any other 7-year-old in Los Angeles. Tell me, what's your favorite Bible story?"

Unhesitatingly, the small boy replied, "Humpty Dumpty."

"A kid is the last container of a genuine sense of humor," maintains Dr. Seuss, author of the all-conquering "The Cat in the Hat." He continues, "This sense of humor disappears as the kid gets older, and learns to laugh only according to the way the boss, society, politics, or race want him to. Then he becomes an adult. And an adult is an obsolete child."

Friend Of Housewives

By John Crosby

George Lefferts is a chunky, hard-bitten guy who is almost the last person you'd think of as the author, director, and producer of television shows with titles like: "The Cold Woman," "The Indiscriminate Woman," "The Trapped Housewife," "What's Wrong With Men?" "The Glamor Trap," and "The Lonely Woman."

"I'm still standing up under the kidding," he'll tell you in tired tones, "but it's gone on all right. I've also had guys threaten to punch me in the nose for getting their wives upset over being 'trapped housewives' or suddenly finding out they should have fun sexually. But on the whole, it's been a great lark for me."

"The Cold Woman," "The Indiscriminate Woman" and the rest of them are titles for some of the Purex Specials for Women (the last of which, "The Problem Child," will be April 19, NBC) which started out as late afternoon shows for women alone. They were transferred to prime evening time at the request of the women who wanted their menfolk to see them. Did very well in the ratings, too.

"This is the first time in fifteen years of television that I've been left strictly alone. I have tried all the things I've wanted to try and this is the first time television has given me creative elbow room.

"I even did most of the interviewing for the shows myself. I used to talk to women on the NBC guided tours—you get a good national cross-section that way and also a good foreign cross-section. And all the women I spoke to weren't in the least reticent about giving me the story of their lives. Most people don't have anyone to talk to, I think."

The series and the interviews had changed his concept of women's role in society. "After the war, there was a basic revision of women's role and a social lag in our attitude's hasn't caught up with it. Never before have there been so many women who are self-sufficient, who don't need marriage for the same reasons they used to. Never have there been so many women educated for careers which they drop suddenly for housewifery. And there is a groundswell of female opinion against the attitude that the wife, after being educated for a career, belongs in the home.

"Right now, we are at a very serious turning point. Either we're going to try and recapture the old days when the role of the woman was closely defined with little conflict or there's going to be an assault on male prerogatives."

This bothers him. In fact, a good deal of the thoughts stirred up by his own reseaching bothered him a lot: "I wondered suddenly if they weren't harmful, if some of these subjects aren't better left alone. But, as a man on one of our shows said: 'Whenever we seek to learn the truth about us as human beings, it will be painful, disruptive, shattering.'

"Still, I kept wondering if I had the right to point out problems when help may not be available. But I decided either people plunge ahead in this direction or we all go back to soap operas and Westerns. Tranquillizers always have sold well but I don't think the public affairs shows should be tranquillizers as they are much of the time."

He feels strongly that the public has been conditioned to accept a bloodless typs of documentary on subjects that should stir the pulse and race the mind. "Everyone in television steers clear of exposing real emotion," he said. "I think this is wrong. We have tried to present the attitudes and emotions as well as the facts. Here we try to capture the essence of reality. I mean the idea of having a baby is more important then the particulars of motherhood."

But Lefferts is fearful of the future. "Television is something to get out of, not into as it now exists. One has the feeling of rats leaving a sinking ship." He turned to another aspect which, I think, is both alarming and important. "The trend toward public affairs is a good one, but the danger is that public affairs themselves will become more and more sensationalized. 'Tonight we see 20,000 cannibals eat 7,000 missionaries in the jungles of the Congo.' That sort of thing.

"Television has to decide right now which way they want to go, because the outfits sponsoring these shows are the same ones who sponsored the Westerns. Real life is more powerful and unless a sense of responsibility is developed along with the techniques of the documentary, we'll be right back where we started."

He sighed: "But I'm tired and I'm resisting all offers to stay in television. Television — whatever else it is — is exhausting. I'm writing a play. I'm on my way out."

Midland Fire Truck Damaged By Air Rifles

Two Homes Also Struck By Shot

MIDLAND — Fire Chief Harry J. Devlin has reported to the Mayor and Council that an air rifle had been fired at the wind shield of one of the town's fire trucks. Thirteen BB shot struck the vehicle, Chief Devlin said, and considerable damage was caused.

Mayor Lionel D. Baker told the council that the town has an ordinance forbidding the discharge of any type of firearms in the corporate limits, and he instructed the town baliff to enforce the ordinance.

A list of all children, known to have air rifles has been compiled and if their future violations and future damage, the parents will be brought in and taken before the magistrate, council concluded.

Keyser Educators Will Attend Fitness Session

KEYSER—John R. Shelton, assistant principal at Keyser High School, and Joseph Stanislawczyk of the coaching staff, have been invited by Gov. W. W. Barron to attend his council on youth fitness to be held April 25 in the chamber of the House of Delegates at the Capitol from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Gov. Barron said the conference had been called as the result of growing interest in the fitness of American youth after evidence that a problem exists in the physical, social, emotional and spiritual attitudes of America's young people.

He said President Kennedy had called attention to the problem in an article "The Soft American," recently carried in a national magazine.

The President said: "Physical fitness is not only one of the most important keys to a healthy body; it is the basis of dynamic and creative intellectual activity," and " the physical fitness of our citizens is a vital prerequisite to America's realization of its full potential as a nation, and to the opportunity of each individual citizen to make full and fruitful use of his capacities."

He stated further that "this is a national problem and requires national action."

Shelton said that both he and Stanislawczyk plan to be present for the conference.

Bank Robbery Doesn't Pay Anywhere In W. Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Bank robbery is not a good risk in West Virginia.

Only one of 36 bank holdups since 1919 remains officially unsolved and State Police are confident that one of the men who staged it was executed and the other is serving a life sentence in Florida.

Holdup men have tried twice within two weeks to make off with money from small banks in rural areas. They, just as the others in the past 43 years, failed miserably.

State Police arrested George B. Hudson, 68, Valley Fork, Clay County, within one hour after he used a gun to get about $6,000 from the Poca Valley Bank in Walton, Roane County.

And just Wednesday, ex-convict Mike Samuel Smith, 37, was apprehended at the home of an unidentified girl friend at West Union. His arrest came just 20 hours after he held up the Tyler County Bank at Middlebourne.

All but $147,162 of the $356,000 in bank loot has been recovered in these thefts and four of the holdup men paid with their lives.

The robberies range from $39,800 Jan. 19, 1938, at the First National Bank in South Charleston to $1.50 at the Greenbrier County Bank in Lewisburg, Oct. 18, 1946.

The only unsolved stickup is the $31,000 "job" at the Bank of Warwood, Feb. 16, 1952. However, State Police Capt. T. A. Welty is confident both holdup men later were arrested on charges in other states.

Bank robbers have been captured in a matter of minutes, but the recent in the Walton and Middlebourne thefts are the result of the hardest type of police work.

Once away from the bank, the thieves have a wide berth in the rural area and are much harder to corral.

One such case was at Buffalo, Putnam County, Oct. 1, 1953. Three men who participated in the $9,745 robbery were arrested about two hours later. One of their captors was a trooper who had traveled the rural road as a youth. The trail of the bank robber is perilous indeed in West Virginia's hills.

Midland Plans Clean-Up Week May 7 To 12

MIDLAND — A Clean-Up Campaign will be held here during the week of May 7-12, inclusive and all residents and householders are being urged by the Mayor and Town Council to cooperate.

Mayor Lionel D. Baker said this week that all streets will be washed and hosed-down by members of the Midland Volunteer Fire Company. Residents are urged to clean out attics, basements and yards, and to place all trash on curbs by 8 a.m. May 11 and 12 when a general pick-up is scheduled.

Town officials emphasize that a general clean-up in the Spring is essential to good health and public safety in the community, and helps eliminate many fire hazards when all residents cooperate. Removal of trash, refuse and debris lessens the danger of infection, epidemics, injury and fires, they explain.

They also urge that residents carefully consider a general program of "paint-up and fix-up" in keeping with the campaign.

PSC May Get Tennis Courts

KEYSER — Coach Dana G. Lough, head of the physical education department at Potomac State College, Miss Margaret Rafter, and John Fox of this department, are making a study and securing cost estimates for the construction of new tennis courts planned tentatively at Arcadia Heights in the area north of Stayman Field.

The college has been without tennis courts since the conversion of the area south of the Administration Building into a parking lot; however, there is one court located behind the gymnasium.

If, after the data is assembled, it seems possible to proceed with construction, it is contemplated that the courts will be available for the fall term. The construction will involve grading, erection of a fence, and if possible, surfacing of some of the courts.

Two Homes Also Struck By Shot

MIDLAND — Fire Chief Harry J. Devlin has reported to the Mayor and Council that an air rifle had been fired at the wind shield of one of the town's fire trucks. Thirteen BB shot struck the vehicle, Chief Devlin said, and considerable damage was caused.

Mayor Lionel D. Baker told the council that the town has an ordinance forbidding the discharge of any type of firearms in the corporate limits, and he instructed the town baliff to enforce the ordinance.

A list of all children, known to have air rifles has been compiled and if their future violations and future damage, the parents will be brought in and taken before the magistrate, council concluded.

He said President Kennedy had called attention to the problem in an article "The Soft American," recently carried in a national magazine.

The President said: "Physical fitness is not only one of the most important keys to a healthy body; it is the basis of dynamic and creative intellectual activity," and "the physical fitness of our citizens is a vital prerequisite to America's realization of its full potential as a nation, and to the opportunity of each individual citizen to make full and fruitful use of his capacities."

Bank Robbery Doesn't Pay Anywhere In W. Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Bank robbery is not a good risk in West Virginia.

Only one of 36 bank holdups since 1919 remains officially unsolved and State Police are confident that one of the men who staged it was executed and the other is serving a life sentence in Florida.

Holdup men have tried twice within two weeks to make off with money from small banks in rural areas. They, just as the others in the past 43 years, failed miserably.

State Police arrested George B. Hudson, 68, Valley Fork, Clay County, within one hour after he used a gun to get about $6,000 from the Poca Valley Bank in Walton, Roane County.

And just Wednesday, ex-convict Mike Samuel Smith, 37, was apprehended at the home of an unidentified girl friend at West Union. His arrest came just 20 hours after he held up the Tyler County Bank at Middlebourne.

All but $147,162 of the $356,000 in bank loot has been recovered in these thefts and four of the holdup men paid with their lives.

The robberies range from $39,800 Jan. 19, 1938, at the First National Bank in South Charleston to $1.50 at the Greenbrier County Bank in Lewisburg, Oct. 18, 1946.

The only unsolved stickup is the $31,000 "job" at the Bank of Warwood, Feb. 16, 1952. However, State Police Capt. T. A. Welty is confident both holdup men later were arrested on charges in other states.

Bank robbers have been captured in a matter of minutes, but the recent in the Walton and Middlebourne thefts are the result of the hardest type of police work.

Once away from the bank, the thieves have a wide berth in the rural area and are much harder to corral.

One such case was at Buffalo, Putnam County, Oct. 1, 1953. Three men who participated in the $9,745 robbery were arrested about two hours later. One of their captors was a trooper who had traveled the rural road as a youth. The trail of the bank robber is perilous indeed in West Virginia's hills.

Staggers of Keyser, and Matthew Reese of the Democratic National Committee. Also participating will be Robert McDonaugh, chairman of the State Executive Committee, and Mrs. Mary Hart Davisson, national committee woman from West Virginia.

Midland Plans Clean-Up Week May 7 To 12

MIDLAND — A Clean-Up Campaign will be held here during the week of May 7-12, inclusive and all residents and householders are being urged by the Mayor and Town Council to cooperate.

Mayor Lionel D. Baker said this week that all streets will be washed and hosed-down by members of the Midland Volunteer Fire Company. Residents are urged to clean out attics, basements and yards, and to place all trash on curbs by 8 a.m. May 11 and 12 when a general pick-up is scheduled.

Town officials emphasize that a general clean-up in the Spring is essential to good health and public safety in the community, and helps eliminate many fire hazards when all residents cooperate. Removal of trash, refuse and debris lessens the danger of infection, epidemics, injury and fires, they explain.

They also urge that residents carefully consider a general program of "paint-up and fix-up" in keeping with the campaign.

PSC May Get Tennis Courts

KEYSER — Coach Dana G. Lough, head of the physical education department at Potomac State College, Miss Margaret Rafter, and John Fox of this department, are making a study and securing cost estimates for the construction of new tennis courts planned tentatively at Arcadia Heights in the area north of Stayman Field.

The college has been without tennis courts since the conversion of the area south of the Administration Building into a parking lot; however, there is one court located behind the gymnasium.

If, after the data is assembled, it seems possible to proceed with construction, it is contemplated that the courts will be available for the fall term. The construction will involve grading, erection of a fence, and if possible, surfacing of some of the courts.

Stanley Cup Series To Resume Sunday

CHICAGO (AP)—Even with his Chicago Black Hawks down 2-0, a Friday 13th homecoming failed to dampen the spirit of Coach Rudy Pilous as the Stanley Cup finals scene shifted from Toronto to Chicago.

"Our gang now has that important home ice advantage and it won't pay the Maple Leafs to keep playing the waiting game from now on," said Pilous. The Cup series resumes in Chicago Stadium Sunday night, with the fourth game also at the stadium Tuesday night.

"Sure, they (the Leafs) won the first two at Toronto—mainly with the waiting game, wait, wait, clutch, hold, wait, wait. But the longer this series goes, the better for us. We lost the first two against Montreal and bounced back to take the next four."

"I thought Toronto looked a little tired at the end last night," said Pilous, referring to the Leafs' 3-2 second-game triumph in Maple Leaf Gardens where the Hawks won one in nine tries this season.

ATTEND ALL-SPORTS BANQUET—Dr. Guy H. Stewart, left assistant professor of journalism, West Virginia University; C. Reeves Taylor, center, prosecuting attorney for Mineral county, and C. Dr. Stewart and Mr. Taylor are Keyser High alumnus and the latter was a former Kelley Award winner.

Mathias Edges Paw Paw, 4-3

Makowski Captures Second Pitching Win

Mathias High rallied for two runs in the fourth inning then hung on for a 4-3 triumph over the Paw Paw High Pirates yesterday in a Potomac Valley Conference baseball game played in the cold and rain at Paw Paw.

Albert Makowski, ace right-hander of the Mathias staff, allowed the Pirates three hits, but was in constant trouble, with nine bases on balls. He whiffed nine in picking up his second victory of the campaign as Mathias made its record 2-1 for the season.

Trailing 3-2 in the fourth Mathias, picked up the win when Gary Strawderman doubled and came home with the tying run on Rod Sherman's single. Sherman stole second and continued home with the winning counter when Lowell Hoover drilled a single to left.

A triple by losing pitcher Paul Kidwell followed by Ronald Harding's single gave Paw Paw its short-lived lead in the third.

Kidwell had the only extra base hit for the losers who now have a 1-1 record. Hoover and Ed Mongold each obtained two bingles for Mathias with the latter cracking out a double. The lineups:

Cardinals Hand Chicago Fourth Defeat, 8 To 5

Musial Sets Record In 15-Inning Game

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Landrum's tie-breaking single and Bill White's two-run double shoved across three runs in the top of the 15th as the St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Chicago Cubs 8-5 in a marathon 4-hour and 40-minute Cub home opener Friday.

Only a small portion of a shivering inaugural crowd of 9,750 still was on hand when the Cards completed their uphill victory in the settling dusk of lightless Wrigley Fied.

The dragged-out contest went into extra innings tied at 4-4 as the Cards nudged across a ninth-inning run against the still-winless Cubs, now beaten four straight times.

The Cards moved ahead 5-4 in the top of the 14th when Gene Oliver doubled across White from first, but the Cubs tied it at 5-5 in the bottom of the 14th on Billy Williams' single, a fielder's choice, Lindy McDaniel's wild pitch and George Altman's single.

Stan (The Man) Musial set another National League record—scoring his 186th run in the second inning and White hit the season's first Cardinal homer, a two-out shot in the seventh which left St. Louis behind, 4-2.

The 41-year-old Musial's run, scored from third on a double play, broke the league mark of 1,859 Stan shared with Mel Ott of the New York Giants. Musial still is far behind the major league record of 2,244 set by Ty Cobb of the Detroit Tigers.

Potomac Hosts Hagerstown In 7th Of Series

Game Set At Keyser, Catamounts Lead 4-2

Potomac State College's baseball team will go after its fourth victory of the season today when it meets Hagerstown Junior College at Keyser.

Coach John Fox's Catamounts opened the week by splitting a twin bill with Altoona Campus in Pennsylvania but Thursday's doubleheader at Shenandoah College at Winchester, Va., was rained out.

Today's game will be the seventh of the series which started in 1958. Potomac swept the 1958 games, 9-2 and 8-1 and also the 1960 contests, 7-4 and 2-1, but last season the Hub City school handed Bill Funkhouser, the Catamounts' twirling ace 11-7 and 3-1 defeats. These were the only losses suffered by Funkhouser, who finished up with a 6-2 record. Thus, Potomac goes into today's game with a 4-2 series record against Coach Irv Easterday's nine.

Potomac is 3-2 for the season while Hagerstown is 0-4, having lost to Shepherd, 27-4, Frostburg State 12-2, York Junior College, 7-4, and Shenandoah, 11-6.

Next Monday and Tuesday Potomac State plays Ashland (Ohio) College's Eagles in 3 p.m. games at Keyser.

Maryland Race Dates Announced

Cumberland Gets August 13 to 25

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Racing Commission released Friday the schedule for five half-mile tracks and the fall meetings at Laurel and Pimlico.

The schedules had been held up while a move was made to close the half-mile thoroughbred tracks at Cumberland and Bel Air and the harness track near Baltimore. The legislature refused to approve the consolidation.

The three major tracks, Bowie, Pimlico and Laurel, now will have to operate the racing at Bel Air and Baltimore Raceway under a leasing arrangement. Cumberland will operate on its own.

The half-mile racing at Bel Air will be July 28-Aug. 11. Subsequent 12-day meets will be held at Cumberland Aug. 13-25, Timonium Aug. 28-Sept. 8, Hagerstown Sept. 10-22, and Marlboro Sept. 24-Oct.6.

Laurel will operate Oct. 28-Nov. 12 and Pimlico Nov. 13-Dec. 15.

The schedule for the four harness tracks is Rosecroft May 7-June 2, Laurel June 4-30, Ocean Downs July 16-Aug. 11 and Baltimore Raceway Sept. 15-Oct. 13.

Thus there will be thoroughbred racing by day and harness at night twice during the summer and fall. Bel Air and Ocean Downs will be operating the same time and Baltimore Raceway during parts of meetings at Hagerstown and Marlboro.

Top Pole Vaulters Vie In Louisiana

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI) —The world's two highest pole vaulters —John Uelses and George Davies —renew their rivalry for world records Saturday in the 34th annual Southwestern Relays.

The pole vault event is the featured attraction in the meet, billed as the oldest relays carnival in the south.

Uelses, the only man to ever vault 16 feet, set an unofficial world outdoor record last week with a mark of 16-feet ¾ inches. The ex-Marine from Alabama also holds the unofficial world indoor record with a 16-foot vault.

Davis, from Arizona State, holds the official world record of 15-10¼ pending approval of Uelses' performances.

Lauder Tops 5th Year

Excels At Foul Line

Conrad Is Honored

Addesa Is Laurel Star

By C. V. BURNS

WHEN George Lauder registered 420 points in 26 games for Frostburg State Teachers College during the 1961-62 basketball season it marked the fifth consecutive year he had paced the scorers of his team during his 7-year high school and college career.

During that period, four years at Valley High and three years at State, Lauder has amassed a total of 2,343 points in 161 contests.

The 6-foot-1 junior from Barton who tips the beam at 215 pounds, was on three Class B state championship teams that won 82 games and lost 19 during the four years he played under Coach John Meyers at Valley High School. He amassed a total of 1,408 points in 101 high school games and his total for three years at State is 935 with another season to go.

Perhaps the highlight of Lauder's cage career is his accuracy at the foul line. He was a .743 shooter (332-447) at Valley High, including a terrific .833 in 17 state tournament games.

In his freshman year at State he posted a .923 average and the past two years he has averaged .832 and .844, respectively, for an amazing three-year mark of .857. For seven seasons he owns a free throw average of .782.

HUGH B. CONRAD, of Lilly, Pa., was elected president of the International Association of Approved Basketball Officials the other day in New York.

Conrad was elevated from the office of first vice president to the top position in the largest officials' organization in the world (IAABO).

Hugh has officiated basketball and football games since 1921.

A Portage (Pa.) postman for more than 30 years, Conrad was a 15-yearlold student at Lilly High School when he officiated in his first basketball game. Last month he completed 41 years as a cage arbiter, 37 as a member of the IAABO.

At one time he coached football and track at Lilly High School.

JOCKEY Emmanuel Addesa, a native of Italy, who suffered a fractured skull in a fall at Pimlico last fall, ranks second among the riders at Laurel with 15 winners to his credit. Herb Hinojosa is the leader with 17.

Yesterday, Addesa posted a double by winning aboard Cotton Reigh ($30) and Boy Brigand ($19.20).

Addesa has come a long way since he rode at Fairgo last year. His only win at the local half miler in seven mounts was Dotty's Charm on the fourth day of the meeting.

LATEST importation in the motor line is the Yahama motorcycle, manufactured in Japan and now on display at Hemmis' shop on North Mechanic street. It's a nifty looking job.

BILL FUNKHOUSER, the Virginia lad, who won nine and lost three while twirling for Potomac State College the past two years, is now pitching for Shepherd College and will likely face the Catamounts when the teams tangle in a doubleheader at Keyser, May 15.

Funkhouser, who tossed no-run, no-hit games against Alderson-Broaddus and the West Virginia U. Freshmen last season, scored his first win of the current season for Dick Bowers' Rams, beating Mount Union, of Ohio, 10-5.

MONTGOMERY BLAIR High's Blazers knocked South Hagerstown's Rebels out of the Class AA state tourney in the semi-final round at College Park last month (87-58) but the Hub City team whipped the Blazers in baseball the other day, 4-1, behind Phil Petry, who is 3-0 to date.

TIM BARTOCK, Martinsburg's classy basketeer, who helped put the Bulldogs in the state baseball semi-finals last year at Charleston, celebrated the opening of the season Tuesday by firing a two-hitter to whip Charles Town, 16-1.

Molina, Lane Fight Tonight

Former Has Won 17 Bouts On Knockouts

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) —Unbeaten Louis Molina, one-time Army sergeant and member of the 1956 U. S. Olympic boxing team, takes a crack at his second television show Saturday night when he tangles with Kenny Lane, veteran puncher from Muskegon, Mich.

Molina, who won two big fights within one week earlier this year, is rated a 10-8 favorite to get over this latest stepping stone on his rags-to-riches path.

A home-town boy who has done most of his fighting right in the civic auditorium here, Molina has a 20-0 record, during which he has scored 17 knockouts.

The two lightweights will come into the ring at around 138 or 139 pounds for their nationally-televised show 10 p.m. EST. The auditorium has been sold out since the bout first was announced. The gate is expected to be about $12,000, with 3,400 fans — 99 per cent rooting for Molina — in the auditorium.

The practice session slated at Penn Avenue at 10 o'clock this morning by B'nai B'rith of the Hot Stove Baseball League has been called off by manager Buck Gephart because of cold and wet grounds.

Celtics Battle Lakers Tonight In Fifth Game

Boston Team Host, Series Tied At 2-2

BOSTON (AP)—A grim Boston Celtics squad whipped through a drill Friday preparing for the pivotal fifth game against Los Angeles in the National Basketball Association playoff finals Saturday night.

The clubs are tied 2-2 in the best-of-7 competition.

"This is the big one coming up," said Frank Ramsey as he sat in a whirlpool bath getting treatment for the severe leg muscle pull which has had him hobbling throughout the series.

"True, we're even in games won," Ramsey continued, "but it's down to a best-of-3 situation and tomorrow night is a must for us. If we lose it we've lost the home court edge which we battled from behind to regain."

Ramsey was referring to the fact that after winning the opener here, Boston lost two straight to the Lakers.

"The key again is Jerry West," said veteran Carl Braun. "Elgin Baylor will get his 35 points a game, regardless. We need to hold West in the mid 20's in scoring—24 or 25. That's a good night. But it means the Lakers have to come up with about 60 points from the other squad members."

The series definitely will go through a date in Los Angeles Monday and if a seventh is needed it will be played here Wednesday.

Caseys To Practice

The Cumberland Knights of Columbus of the Rocking Chair Softball League, managed by Jimmie Angelatta, will practice Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 5 p.m., at Stitcher Field.

Stanley Cup Series To Resume Sunday

CHICAGO (AP)—Even with his Chicago Black Hawks down 2-0, a Friday 13th homecoming failed to dampen the spirit of Coach Rudy Pilous as the Stanley Cup finals scene shifted from Toronto to Chicago.

"Our gang now has that important home ice advantage and it won't pay the Maple Leafs to keep playing the waiting game from now on," said Pilous. The Cup series resumes in Chicago Stadium Sunday night, with the fourth game also at the stadium Tuesday night.

"Sure, they (the Leafs) won the first two at Toronto—mainly with the waiting game, wait, wait, clutch, hold, wait, wait. But the longer this series goes, the better for us. We lost the first two against Montreal and bounced back to take the next four."

"I thought Toronto looked a little tired at the end last night," said Pilous, referring to the Leafs' 3-2 second-game triumph in Maple Leaf Gardens where the Hawks won one in nine tries this season.

Mathias Edges Paw Paw, 4-3

Makowski Captures Second Pitching Win

Mathias High rallied for two runs in the fourth inning then hung on for a 4-3 triumph over the Paw Paw High Pirates yesterday in a Potomac Valley Conference baseball game played in the cold and rain at Paw Paw.

Albert Makowski, ace righthander of the Mathias staff, allowed the Pirates three hits, but was in constant trouble, with nine bases on balls. He whiffed nine in picking up his second victory of the campaign as Mathias made its record 2-1 for the season.

Trailing 3-2 in the fourth Mathias, picked up the win when Gary Strawderman doubled and came home with the tying run on Rod Sherman's single. Sherman stole second and continued home with the winning counter when Lowell Hoover drilled a single to left.

A triple by losing pitcher Paul Kidwell followed by Ronald Harding's single gave Paw Paw its short-lived lead in the third.

Kidwell had the only extra base hit for the losers who now have a 1-1 record. Hoover and Ed Mongold each obtained two bingles for Mathias with the latter cracking out a double. The lineups:

Cardinals Hand Chicago Fourth Defeat, 8 To 5

Musial Sets Record In 15-Inning Game

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Landrum's tie-breaking single and Bill White's two-run double shoved across three runs in the top of the 15th as the St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Chicago Cubs 8-5 in a marathon 4-hour and 40-minute Cub home opener Friday.

Only a small portion of a shivering inaugural crowd of 9,750 still was on hand when the Cards completed their uphill victory in the settling dusk of lightless Wrigley Fied.

The dragged-out contest went into extra innings tied at 4-4 as the Cards nudged across a ninth-inning run against the still-winless Cubs, now beaten four straight times.

The Cards moved ahead 5-4 in the top of the 14th when Gene Oliver doubled across White from first, but the Cubs tied it at 5-5 in the bottom of the 14th on Billy Williams' single, a fielder's choice, Lindy McDaniel's wild pitch and George Altman's single.

Stan (The Man) Musial set another National League record—scoring his 186th run in the second inning and White hit the season's first Cardinal homer, a two-out shot in the seventh which left St. Louis behind, 4-2.

The 41-year-old Musial's run, scored from third on a double play, broke the league mark of 1,859 Stan shared with Mel Ott of the New York Giants. Musial still is far behind the major league record of 2,244 set by Ty Cobb of the Detroit Tigers.

Potomac Hosts Hagerstown In 7th Of Series

Game Set At Keyser, Catamounts Lead 4-2

Potomac State College's baseball team will go after its fourth victory of the season today when it meets Hagerstown Junior College at Keyser.

Coach John Fox's Catamounts opened the week by splitting a twin bill with Altoona Campus in Pennsylvania but Thursday's doubleheader at Shenandoah College at Winchester, Va., was rained out.

Today's game will be the seventh of the series which started in 1958. Potomac swept the 1958 games, 9-2 and 8-1 and also the 1960 contests, 7-4 and 2-1, but last season the Hub City school handed Bill Funkhouser, the Catamounts' twirling ace 11-7 and 3-1 defeats. These were the only losses suffered by Funkhouser, who finished up with a 6-2 record. Thus, Potomac goes into today's game with a 4-2 series record against Coach Irv Easterday's nine.

Potomac is 3-2 for the season while Hagerstown is 0-4, having lost to Shepherd, 27-4, Frostburg State 12-2, York Junior College, 7-4, and Shenandoah, 11-6.

Next Monday and Tuesday Potomac State plays Ashland (Ohio) College's Eagles in 3 p.m. games at Keyser.

Maryland Race Dates Announced

Cumberland Gets August 13 to 25

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Racing Commission released Friday the schedule for five half-mile tracks and the fall meetings at Laurel and Pimlico.

The schedules had been held up while a move was made to close the half-mile thoroughbred tracks at Cumberland and Bel Air and the harness track near Baltimore. The legislature refused to approve the consolidation.

The three major tracks, Bowie, Pimlico and Laurel, now will have to operate the racing at Bel Air and Baltimore Raceway under a leasing arrangement. Cumberland will operate on its own.

The half-mile racing at Bel Air will be July 28-Aug. 11. Subsequent 12-day meets will be held at Cumberland Aug. 13-25, Timonium Aug. 28-Sept. 8, Hagerstown Sept. 10-22, and Marlboro Sept. 24-Oct.6.

Laurel will operate Oct. 28-Nov. 12 and Pimlico Nov. 13-Dec. 15.

The schedule for the four harness tracks is Rosecroft May 7-June 2, Laurel June 4-30, Ocean Downs July 16-Aug. 11 and Baltimore Raceway Sept. 15-Oct. 13.

Thus there will be thoroughbred racing by day and harness at night twice during the summer and fall. Bel Air and Ocean Downs will be operating the same time and Baltimore Raceway during parts of meetings at Hagerstown and Marlboro.

Top Pole Vaulters Vie In Louisiana

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI) —The world's two highest pole vaulters —John Uelses and George Davies —renew their rivalry for world records Saturday in the 34th annual Southwestern Relays.

The pole vault event is the featured attraction in the meet, billed as the oldest relays carnival in the south.

Uelses, the only man to ever vault 16 feet, set an unofficial world outdoor record last week with a mark of 16-feet ¾ inches. The ex-Marine from Alabama also holds the unofficial world indoor record with a 16-foot vault.

Davis, from Arizona State, holds the official world record of 15-10¼ pending approval of Uelses' performances.

Lauder Tops 5th Year
Excels At Foul Line
Conrad Is Honored
Addesa Is Laurel Star

By C. V. BURNS

WHEN George Lauder registered 420 points in 26 games for Frostburg State Teachers College during the 1961-62 basketball season it marked the fifth consecutive year he had paced the scorers of his team during his 7-year high school and college career.

During that period, four years at Valley High and three years at State, Lauder has amassed a total of 2,343 points in 161 contests.

The 6-foot-1 junior from Barton who tips the beam at 215 pounds, was on three Class B state championship teams that won 82 games and lost 19 during the four years he played under Coach John Meyers at Valley High School. He amassed a total of 1,408 points in 101 high school games and his total for three years at State is 935 with another season to go.

Perhaps the highlight of Lauder's cage career is his accuracy at the foul line. He was a .743 shooter (332-447) at Valley High, including a terrific .833 in 17 state tournament games.

In his freshman year at State he posted a .923 average and the past two years he has averaged .832 and .844, respectively, for an amazing three-year mark of .857. For seven seasons he owns a free throw average of .782.

HUGH B. CONRAD, of Lilly, Pa., was elected president of the International Association of Approved Basketball Officials the other day in New York.

Conrad was elevated from the office of first vice president to the top position in the largest officials' organization in the world (IAABO).

Hugh has officiated basketball and football games since 1921.

A Portage (Pa.) postman for more than 30 years, Conrad was a 15-yearlold student at Lilly High School when he officiated in his first basketball game. Last month he completed 41 years as a cage arbiter, 37 as a member of the IAABO.

At one time he coached football and track at Lilly High School.

JOCKEY Emmanuel Addesa, a native of Italy, who suffered a fractured skull in a fall at Pimlico last fall, ranks second among the riders at Laurel with 15 winners to his credit. Herb Hinojosa is the leader with 17.

Yesterday, Addesa posted a double by winning aboard Cotton Reigh ($30) and Boy Brigand ($19.20).

Addesa has come a long way since he rode at Fairgo last year. His only win at the local half miler in seven mounts was Dotty's Charm on the fourth day of the meeting.

LATEST importation in the motor line is the Yahama motorcycle, manufactured in Japan and now on display at Hemmis' shop on North Mechanic street. It's a nifty looking job.

BILL FUNKHOUSER, the Virginia lad, who won nine and lost three while twirling for Potomac State College the past two years, is now pitching for Shepherd College and will likely face the Catamounts when the teams tangle in a doubleheader at Keyser, May 15.

Funkhouser, who tossed no-run, no-hit games against Alderson-Broaddus and the West Virginia U. Freshmen last season, scored his first win of the current season for Dick Bowers' Rams, beating Mount Union, of Ohio, 10-5.

MONTGOMERY BLAIR High's Blazers knocked South Hagerstown's Rebels out of the Class AA state tourney in the semifinal round at College Park last month (87-58) but the Hub City team whipped the Blazers in baseball the other day, 4-1, behind Phil Petry, who is 3-0 to date.

TIM BARTOCK, Martinsburg's classy basketeer, who helped put the Bulldogs in the state baseball semi-finals last year at Charleston, celebrated the opening of the season Tuesday by firing a two-hitter to whip Charles Town, 16-1.

Molina, Lane Fight Tonight

Former Has Won 17 Bouts On Knockouts

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) —Unbeaten Louis Molina, one-time Army sergeant and member of the 1956 U. S. Olympic boxing team, takes a crack at his second television show Saturday night when he tangles with Kenny Lane, veteran puncher from Muskegon, Mich.

Molina, who won two big fights within one week earlier this year, is rated a 10-8 favorite to get over this latest stepping stone on his rags-to-riches path.

A home-town boy who has done most of his fighting right in the civic auditorium here, Molina has a 20-0 record, during which he has scored 17 knockouts.

The two lightweights will come into the ring at around 138 or 139 pounds for their nationally-televised show 10 p.m. EST. The auditorium has been sold out since the bout first was announced. The gate is expected to be about $12,000, with 3,400 fans — 99 per cent rooting for Molina — in the auditorium.

Practice Postponed

The practice session slated at Penn Avenue at 10 o'clock this morning by B'nai B'rith of the Hot Stove Baseball League has been called off by manager Buck Gephart because of cold and wet grounds.

Celtics Battle Lakers Tonight In Fifth Game

Boston Team Host, Series Tied At 2-2

BOSTON (AP)—A grim Boston Celtics squad whipped through a drill Friday preparing for the pivotal fifth game against Los Angeles in the National Basketball Association playoff finals Saturday night.

The clubs are tied 2-2 in the best-of-7 competition.

"This is the big one coming up," said Frank Ramsey as he sat in a whirlpool bath getting treatment for the severe leg muscle pull which has had him hobbling throughout the series.

"True, we're even in games won," Ramsey continued, "but it's down to a best-of-3 situation and tomorrow night is a must for us. If we lose it we've lost the home court edge which we battled from behind to regain."

Ramsey was referring to the fact that after winning the opener here, Boston lost two straight to the Lakers.

"The key again is Jerry West," said veteran Carl Braun. "Elgin Baylor will get his 35 points a game, regardless. We need to hold West in the mid 20's in scoring—24 or 25. That's a good night. But it means the Lakers have to come up with about 60 points from the other squad members."

The series definitely will go through a date in Los Angeles Monday and if a seventh is needed it will be played here Wednesday.

Caseys To Practice

The Cumberland Knights of Columbus of the Rocking Chair Softball League, managed by Jimmie Angelatta, will practice Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 5 p.m., at Stitcher Field.

Arroyo Bows In Relief As Tigers Rally

Walks In Winning Run; Lary Masters Champs 28th Time

DETROIT (AP)—Yankee-killer Frank Lary beat New York with lukewarm pitching and red-hot batting in frigid weather Friday as the Detroit Tigers won a tumultuous opener in Tiger Stadium 5-3.

A crowd of 29,411 braved 36-degree temperature, blustery winds, rain and snow to see the Tigers come back after spotting the world champions a 3-0 lead in the first four innings.

The Tigers went ahead with three runs in a wild seventh inning that started with Roger Maris, the Yankees' 61-home run hitter ducking a pop bottle.

Maris Is Booed

It ended with Luis Arroyo, the Yanks' reliever, walking across the winning run and Jim Coates walking across the insurance tally.

Maris trotted in from right field, carrying the pop bottle into the Yankee dugout. He briefly refused to return to right field, but did so after he was persuaded by Manager Ralph Houk and the umpires. He received a royal booing by the fans in the right field stands and replied with what appeared to be a contemptuous gesture.

Lary struck the blow in the Tigers' winning rally, lacing a triple past Mickey Mantle in center field and chasing in the run that tied it 3-3. He pulled up lame rounding second base and was forced from the game.

Walks In Winning Run

Arroyo, who repaced starter Bill Stafford at the start of the seventh, then walked Jake Wood, Billy Bruton and Al Kaline, forcing in pinch runner Reno Bertoia. Coates then issued a bases loaded walk ot Norm Cash.

Lary ran his lifetime record against the Yankees to 28-10. Jim Bunning held the Yankees scoreless the last two innings.

Elston Howard was the Yankees' big gun. He touched Lary for a run-scoring double in the two-run second and then belted him for a home run in the fourth.

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Robert Poole, Pueblo, Colo., took the classic singles lead on a 759 Friday during a wild scoring day at the American Bowling Congress tournament.

'Four Derby Prospects In Chesapeake

Nine 3-Year-Olds In Laurel Event

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Four prospects for the Kentucky Derby May 5, Daddy R., Dedimoud, Crackpot and Sidluck, will contest with five other 3-year-old thoroughbreds in Saturday's $25,000-added Chesapeake Stakes.

All nine could be made eligible later for the two other Triple Crown classics if they aren't already. The Preakness and Belmont accept late entries upon the payment of supplemental fees.

Daddy R., owned by Mrs. Ada Rice of Chicago, will carry the most weight in the Chesapeake, 119 pounds. The Derby weight is 126.

Brandywine Stable's Greek Money, a Preakness and Belmont nominee, will carry three pounds less than Daddy R. after being beaten by the Rice runner at Laurel last week.

Four of the entries, Marion R. Frankell's Sidluck, Bruce S. Campbell's Dedimoud, Mrs. Irene Marone's Fruit Shipper and Mrs. J. H.. Thouron's Merry New Year, each has been assigned 113 pounds. The lightweights at 110 are James E. Robertson's Nana's Man, Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' One Coat and Rokeby Stable's Crackpot.

In addition to his Laurel victory, Daddy R. accounted for the Governor's Gold Cup earlier this season at Bowie. The dark brown son of Olympia still has to show he can win at more than one mile.

The Chesapeake purse will gross $28,625 with nine starters and net the winner $18,606.

Maxwell Ties Mike Souchak At Greensboro

Lead At Halfway Point With 137s

By KEN ALYTA

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Billy Maxwell, stocky little former National Amateur champion, shot the day's best round, a 4-under-par 67, to join defending champion Mike Souchak as 36-hole leaders in the $35,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament Friday. The two had 137 totals.

They were two strokes ahead of their three nearest rivals, Mason Rudolph, Bill Casper and Jerry Steelsmith. Dow Finsterwald, first round leader with 65, fell off to 75 to drop into a five-way tie for sixth place.

The sun came out after two days of heavy rainfall, but it was accompanied by brisk winds that brought trouble, especially for those starting after midday.

The temperature never rose above the mid-50s despite the bright sunshine. The wind, maintaining a steady 20-mile per hour clip from the early morning hours, swept across the 7,000-yard Sedgefield Country Club course in gusts that ranged from 40 to 50 miles per hour throughout the afternoon.

Among those having troubles, although he played early, was Masters champion Arnold Palmer, who shot 76, 5-over par, for a 147 total. That dropped him into a six-way tie for 40th place, 10 strokes off the top.

Oerter, Gardner Break Records

QUANTICO, Va. (UPI) — Olympic record holder Al Oerter came within three feet of topping his 1960 Olympic mark Friday by tossing the discus 191 feet for a new Quantico Relays record.

Oerter, of West Babylon, N.Y., and representing the New York Athletic Club in the first day of the two-day meet here, broke the previous discus record set in 1958 by J. Ellis.

Bob Gardner, of Camp LeJeune, smashed another meet record in the high jump by clearing the bar at 6 feet 8¼ inches. Phil Fehlin last year jumped 6 feet 6¼ inches.

Senators Trip Cleveland, 5-2

Game Called In 6th Because Of Rain

CLEVELAND (AP)—Snow and the Washington Senators spoiled the Cleveland Indians' home opener Friday, the Senators winning 5-2 in a game that was called in the sixth inning with one out.

Washington took charge in the first inning, rapping Cleveland starter Barry Latman for three hits and two runs. Before they finished they had mauled three Cleveland hurlers for eight hits, including a two-run homer by Gene Woodling.

Woodling's blast into the right field stands off reliever Bob Allen in the fifth inning was his first homer of the season and scored former Indian Jimmy Piersall.

Washington southpaw Pete Burnside gave up two runs in the third inning but held the Indians hitless the other four innings.

Phils' Rookie Snaps Houston Win Skein, 3-2

Hamilton Is Victor; Gonzalez Hits Homer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Rookie Jack Hamilton, shaking off first-inning jitters, pitched the Philadelphia Phillies to a 3-2 victory over the Houston Colt 45s Friday night in his first major league performance.

The 24-year-old farm boy from Morning Sun, Iowa, received offensive support from outfielder Tony Gonzalez who drove in the lead run with a sixth-inning home run and an insurance tally with a 420-foot triple in the eighth.

Hamilton's pitching and Gonzalez' offensive prowess spoiled Houston pitcher Dick Farrell's second major league start since the right-hander reached the majors in 1956, and inflicted the spanking new Colts' franchise with its first defeat after three straight over the Chicago Cubs in a season opening series.

A crowd of 12,633 turned out for the Phillies' home opener on a 43-degree night.

Leading 1-0, by virtue of two walks and catcher Clay Dalrymple's single in the second, Hamilton gave up singles to Norm Larker and Joe Amalfitano in the fourth and then hurled a wild pitch allowing Larker to score. He balked home the second run in the ninth.

Buccos Spoil Mets Opener In Rain, 4-3

12,447 See Game; Thomas Hits Homer In Losing Cause

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Pittsburgh spoiled the New York Mets' home debut Friday by slipping, sliding and walking to a 4-3 victory over Casey Stengel's new National League entry in a soggy rain-soaked game at the Polo Grounds.

A noisy crowd of 12,447 watched the return of National League ball to New York after a four-year lapse.

It was damp and frosty at the historic old park, deserted by the New York Giants after the 1957 season. Rain fell through most of the contest which was played under lights all the way, with the temperature in the low 40s.

Mets Fielding Shoddy

Pittsburgh opened up a 2-0 lead on starter Sherman (Roadblock) Jones with the help of some shoddy fielding in the second. Smoky Burgess was credited with a single when Charlie Neal made a fine stop of his grounder but first baseman Jim Marshall was unable to keep his foot on the bag. Don Hoak's double off the right field wall scored Burgess.

Bill Mazeroski's fly to right center fell between Gus Bell and Richie Ashburn for a triple after Bell had signalled for the ball, Hoak scoring.

The Mets scored their first run in the fifth on Marshall's double down the left field line, Ed Bouchee's pinch single and Richie Ashburn's single. Shortstop Dick Groat made a great try on Marshall's double but could not hold the ball as he slid along in the goo.

Thomas Belts Homer

After the Pirates scored off relief man Herb Moford in the sixth on a single by Roberto Clemente, a wild pitch and Smoky Burgess' single, the Mets bounced right back on Frank Thomas' home run into the upper deck in left field. It was Thomas' 22nd Polo Grounds homer but his first, of course, as a home player.

Ray Daviault, Stengel's third pitcher, presented the Pirates with the run that proved decisive in the eighth when he walked Groat, who took second on a wild pitch, third on an infield out and scored on another wild pitch.

Arroyo Bows In Relief As Tigers Rally

Walks In Winning Run; Lary Masters Champs 28th Time

DETROIT (AP)—Yankee-killer Frank Lary beat New York with lukewarm pitching and red-hot batting in frigid weather Friday as the Detroit Tigers won a tumultuous opener in Tiger Stadium 5-3.

A crowd of 29,411 braved 36-degree temperature, blustery winds, rain and snow to see the Tigers come back after spotting the world champions a 3-0 lead in the first four innings.

The Tigers went ahead with three runs in a wild seventh inning that started with Roger Maris, the Yankees' 61-home run hitter ducking a pop bottle.

Maris Is Booed

It ended with Luis Arroyo, the Yanks' reliever, walking across the winning run and Jim Coates walking across the insurance tally.

Maris trotted in from right field, carrying the pop bottle into the Yankee dugout. He briefly refused to return to right field, but did so after he was persuaded by Manager Ralph Houk and the umpires. He received a royal booing by the fans in the right field stands and replied with what appeared to be a contemptuous gesture.

Lary struck the blow in the Tigers' winning rally, lacing a triple past Mickey Mantle in center field and chasing in the run that tied it 3-3. He pulled up lame rounding second base and was forced from the game.

Walks In Winning Run

Arroyo, who repaced starter Bill Stafford at the start of the seventh, then walked Jake Wood, Billy Bruton and Al Kaline, forcing in pinch runner Reno Bertoia. Coates then issued a bases loaded walk ot Norm Cash.

Lary ran his lifetime record against the Yankees to 28-10. Jim Bunning held the Yankees scoreless the last two innings.

Elston Howard was the Yankees' big gun. He touched Lary for a run-scoring double in the two-run second and then belted him for a home run in the fourth.

'Four Derby Prospects In Chesapeake

Nine 3-Year-Olds In Laurel Event

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Four prospects for the Kentucky Derby May 5, Daddy R., Dedimoud, Crackpot and Sidluck, will contest with five other 3-year-old thoroughbreds in Saturday's $25,000-added Chesapeake Stakes.

All nine could be made eligible later for the two other Triple Crown classics if they aren't already. The Preakness and Belmont accept late entries upon the payment of supplemental fees.

The Chesapeake Stakes at one mile and a sixteenth brings out the staying ability of the 3-year-olds. The Derby is an eighth of a mile longer.

Daddy R., owned by Mrs. Ada Rice of Chicago, will carry the most weight in the Chesapeake, 119 pounds. The Derby weight is 126.

Brandywine Stable's Greek Money, a Preakness and Belmont nominee, will carry three pounds less than Daddy R. after being beaten by the Rice runner at Laurel last week.

Four of the entries, Marion R. Frankell's Sidluck, Bruce S.Campbell's Dedimoud, Mrs. Irene Marone's Fruit Shipper and Mrs. J H.. Thouron's Merry New Year, each has been assigned 113 pounds. The lightweights at 110 are James E. Robertson's Nana's Man, Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' One Coat and Rokeby Stable's Crackpot.

In addition to his Laurel victory, Daddy R. accounted for the Governor's Gold Cup earlier this season at Bowie. The dark brown son of Olympia still has to show he can win at more than one mile.

The Chesapeake purse will gross $28,625 with nine starters and net the winner $18,606.

Maxwell Ties Mike Souchak At Greensboro

Lead At Halfway Point With 137s

By KEN ALYTA

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Billy Maxwell, stocky little former National Amateur champion, shot the day's best round, a 4-under-par 67, to join defending champion Mike Souchak as 36-hole leaders in the $35,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament Friday. The two had 137 totals.

They were two strokes ahead of their three nearest rivals, Mason Rudolph, Bill Casper and Jerry Steelsmith. Dow Finsterwald, first round leader with 65, fell off to 75 to drop into a five-way tie for sixth place.

The sun came out after two days of heavy rainfall, but it was accompanied by brisk winds that brought trouble, especially for those starting after midday.

The temperature never rose above the mid-50s despite the bright sunshine. The wind, maintaining a steady 20-mile per hour clip from the early morning hours, swept across the 7,000-yard Sedgefield Country Club course in gusts that ranged from 40 to 50 miles per hour throughout the afternoon.

Among those having troubles, although he played early, was Masters champion Arnold Palmer, who shot 76, 5-over par, for a 147 total. That dropped him into a six-way tie for 40th place, 10 strokes off the top.

Oerter, Gardner Break Records

QUANTICO, Va. (UPI) — Olympic record holder Al Oerter came within three feet of topping his 1960 Olympic mark Friday by tossing the discus 191 feet for a new Quantico Relays record.

Oerter, of West Babylon, N.Y., and representing the New York Athletic Club in the first day of the two-day meet here, broke the previous discus record set in 1958 by J. Ellis.

Bob Gardner, of Camp LeJeune, smashed another meet record in the high jump by clearing the bar at 6 feet 8¼ inches. Phil Fehlin last year jumped 6 feet 6¼ inches.

Senators Trip Cleveland, 5-2

Game Called In 6th Because Of Rain

CLEVELAND (AP)—Snow and the Washington Senators spoiled the Cleveland Indians' home opener Friday, the Senators winning 5-2 in a game that was called in the sixth inning with one out.

Washington took charge in the first inning, rapping Cleveland starter Barry Latman for three hits and two runs. Before they finished they had mauled three Cleveland hurlers for eight hits, including a two-run homer by Gene Woodling.

Woodling's blast into the right field stands off reliever Bob Allen in the fifth inning was his first homer of the season and scored former Indian Jimmy Piersall.

Washington southpaw Pete Burnside gave up two runs in the third inning but held the Indians hitless the other four innings.

Phils' Rookie Snaps Houston Win Skein, 3-2

Hamilton Is Victor; Gonzalez Hits Homer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Rookie Jack Hamilton, shaking off first-inning jitters, pitched the Philadelphia Phillies to a 3-2 victory over the Houston Colt 45s Friday night in his first major league performance.

The 24-year-old farm boy from Morning Sun, Iowa, received offensive support from outfielder Tony Gonzalez who drove in the lead run with a sixth-inning home run and an insurance tally with a 420-foot triple in the eighth.

Hamilton's pitching and Gonzalez' offensive prowess spoiled Houston pitcher Dick Farrell's second major league start since the right-hander reached the majors in 1956, and inflicted the spanking new Colts' franchise with its first defeat after three straight over the Chicago Cubs in a season opening series.

A crowd of 12,633 turned out for the Phillies' home opener on a 43-degree night.

Leading 1-0, by virtue of two walks and catcher Clay Dalrymple's single in the second, Hamilton gave up singles to Norm Larker and Joe Amalfitano in the fourth and then hurled a wild pitch allowing Larker to score. He balked home the second run in the ninth.

Buccos Spoil Mets Opener In Rain, 4-3

12,447 See Game; Thomas Hits Homer In Losing Cause

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Pittsburgh spoiled the New York Mets' home debut Friday by slipping, sliding and walking to a 4-3 victory over Casey Stengel's new National League entry in a soggy rain-soaked game at the Polo Grounds.

A noisy crowd of 12,447 watched the return of National League ball to New York after a four-year lapse.

It was damp and frosty at the historic old park, deserted by the New York Giants after the 1957 season. Rain fell through most of the contest which was played under lights all the way, with the temperature in the low 40s.

Mets Fielding Shoddy

Pittsburgh opened up a 2-0 lead on starter Sherman (Roadblock) Jones with the help of some shoddy fielding in the second. Smoky Burgess was credited with a single when Charlie Neal made a fine stop of his grounder but first baseman Jim Marshall was unable to keep his foot on the bag. Don Hoak's double off the right field wall scored Burgess.

Bill Mazeroski's fly to right center fell between Gus Bell and Richie Ashburn for a triple after Bell had signalled for the ball, Hoak scoring.

The Mets scored their first run in the fifth on Marshall's double down the left field line, Ed Bouchee's pinch single and Richie Ashburn's single. Shortstop Dick Groat made a great try on Marshall's double but could not hold the ball as he slid along in the goo.

Thomas Belts Homer

After the Pirates scored off reliel man Herb Moford in the sixth on a single by Roberto Clemente, a wild pitch and Smoky Burgess' single, the Mets bounced right back on Frank Thomas' home run into the upper deck in left field. It was Thomas' 22nd Polo Grounds homer but his first, of course, as a home player.

Ray Daviault, Stengel's third pitcher, presented the Pirates with the run that proved decisive in the eighth when he walked Groat, who took second on a wild pitch, third on an infield out and scored on another wild pitch.

Market Rallies Slightly As Investors Watch Steel

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied above new lows for the year and closed mixed Friday as Wall Street's fear of political war between the administration and business began to fade.

The day began dolefully, with U.S. Steel sliding around 2 points. The market began to turn for the better after Inland Steel, the nation's eighth biggest producer, announced it would not go along with the price boosts.

Inland Steel advanced 2⅜. U.S. Steel cut its own loss to a mere ⅝. Bethlehem erased a decline and ended ¼ higher.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had been down as much as 1.78 at 11 a.m., recovered and posted a gain of 2.23 at 687.90.

Most popular market indicators advanced but there were a few more losers than gainers in the over-all list so it remained an irregular market.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .60 to 251.70 with industrials up 2.10, rails off .50 to a new low for the year, and utilities off .20.

Of 1,285 issues traded, 507 declined and 492 advanced. New highs for the year totaled 10 and new lows 194.

Volume rose to 3.47 million shares from 3.32 million Thursday.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange showed an irregularly higher trend.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were higher.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Wheat prices rallied late Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade while corn and oats lost ground and other grain futures ended mixed.

Wheat finished unchanged to up 1⅛, corn off ¼ to ⅞, oats off ⅛ to ⅞, rye off 1 to up ⅜ and soybeans off ¾ to up 1.

Buying of May wheat by commercial houses, locals and exporters boosted the bread grain near the close. Strong cash markets in the southwest and prospects for a smaller crop this year encouraged traders.

Turkey bought 2,610,000 bushels of hard wheat for May shipment, and further export business was believed pending.

The corn market slowed down considerably following an early decline, and prices showed little inclination to rally.

Corn sales were mainly scattered, with local traders in and out of the market on the selling side. While commission houses had supporting orders, buying was not aggressive.

Dealers looked for another sizable increase in the local stock of corn this week. Supplies totaled around 30 million bushels at last report.

Oats rallied partially from early declines with commission houses on both sides of July and September. Cash houses bought May and sold December.

Rye futures were mixed with deferred months up small fractions.

The May delivery continued to show the most strength in soybeans. Commercial and Canadian interests were active buyers, while spreaders took the May in exchange of July. Cash prices were also firm, but meal and oil futures declined.

Outside markets were mixed.

Market Rallies Slightly As Investors Watch Steel

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied above new lows for the year and closed mixed Friday as Wall Street's fear of political war between the administration and business began to fade.

The day began dolefully, with U.S. Steel sliding around 2 points. The market began to turn for the better after Inland Steel, the nation's eighth biggest producer, announced it would not go along with the price boosts.

Inland Steel advanced 2⅜. U.S. Steel cut its own loss to a mere ⅝. Bethlehem erased a decline and ended ¼ higher.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had been down as much as 1.78 at 11 a.m., recovered and posted a gain of 2.23 at 687.90.

Most popular market indicators advanced but there were a few more losers than gainers in the over-all list so it remained an irregular market.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .60 to 251.70 with industrials up 2.10, rails off .50 to a new low for the year, and utilities off .20.

Of 1,285 issues traded, 507 declined and 492 advanced. New highs for the year totaled 10 and new lows 194.

Volume rose to 3.47 million shares from 3.32 million Thursday.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange showed an irregularly higher trend.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were higher.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Wheat prices rallied late Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade while corn and oats lost ground and other grain futures ended mixed.

Wheat finished unchanged to up 1⅛, corn off ¼ to ⅞, oats off ⅛ to ⅞, rye off 1 to up ⅜ and soybeans off ¾ to up 1.

Buying of May wheat by commercial houses, locals and exporters boosted the bread grain near the close. Strong cash markets in the southwest and prospects for a smaller crop this year encouraged traders.

Turkey bought 2,610,000 bushels of hard wheat for May shipment, and further export business was believed pending.

The corn market slowed down considerably following an early decline, and prices showed little inclination to rally.

Corn sales were mainly scattered, with local traders in and out of the market on the selling side. While commission houses had supporting orders, buying was not aggressive.

Dealers looked for another sizable increase in the local stock of corn this week. Supplies totaled around 30 million bushels at last report.

Oats rallied partially from early declines with commission houses on both sides of July and September. Cash houses bought May and sold December.

Rye futures were mixed with deferred months up small fractions.

The May delivery continued to show the most strength in soybeans. Commercial and Canadian interests were active buyers, while spreaders took the May in exchange of July. Cash prices were also firm, but meal and oil futures declined.

Outside markets were mixed.

Labor Council Makes Choice In Contested Posts

Will Take Action Following Primary

The Western Maryland Central Labor Council, AFL-CIO, has made a number of endorsements in contested state and county primary posts, according to Andrew M. Lewis Jr., area COPE chairman.

The endorsements were made by the labor council, he said, after the Committee on Political Education, political arm of the council, discussed issues with 95 per cent of the candidates.

In offices where there is no contest in the primary, no endorsements were made, he said.

In the Sixth Congressional District race, no endorsement was made between Republican or Democratic candidates, he said, because COPE officials have had no opportunity to talk with either candidate.

Here is the lineup of candidates endorsed by the AFL-CIO Council:

REPUBLICAN

State Senator — George R. Hughes Jr.

House of Delegates — Charles M. See, Noel Speir Cook, Estel C. Kelley, Fred B. Driscoll, Lester B. Reed, Fred Anderson and David J. Williams.

Mr. Lewis said that based on the caliber of people seeking the office, the Council found it practically impossible to reduce the number for the above post below seven and that "all are acceptable to labor."

County Commissioners — Louis V. Shinnamon, Harry Shobe and Robert Little Ebert.

State Central Committee—Stanley E. Zorick and Wilbur Johnson.

DEMOCRATS

County Commissioner — John J. Rowan and John J. Long.

State Central Committee — Josiah Mullenax and John G. Thomas.

Mr. Lewis said the AFL-CIO Council decided no endorsements were necessary on the Democratic ticket for State Senator or House of Delegates, since there will be no contest in the primary.

But he said that after the primary election, the council will make a determination of the candidates it will back in the general election.

He said council members who served on the committee which recommended the slate were warm in their praise for candidates who are seeking office in Allegany County, and expressed thanks for their cooperation in meeting with the committee.

Cook Supported By Rail Labor

The United Railroad Labor Policy Committee has given its endorsement to Noel Speir Cook, Republican, who seeks renomination as a House of Delegates candidate in Allegany County.

Thomas F. Conlon, Democrat; Fred B. Driscoll, Estel C. Kelley, Lester B. Reed and Charles M. See, all Republicans and delegate candidates, have the group's backing as does William Walsh, Democrat, candidate for the State Senate.

Garner, and Mrs. Lucile Roeder is chapter president. Hundreds of volunteers are participating.

Mahoney Hurls Hypocrite Tag At Governor

BALTIMORE (AP). — Gov. Tawes' expression of regret over savings and loan association failures was described Friday as sheer hypocrisy by George P. Mahoney, one of the governor's opponents in the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

"I was shocked," Mahoney said. "to read in a Washington newspaper of Mr. Tawes' startling lack of courtesy and rude expression of unconcern to one of our citizens who asked him . . . about possible state relief for savings and loan victims.

"It Tawes' statement reveals better than anything I could say the extent of Mr. Tawes' contempt for his fellow Marylanders."

Article Cited

The newspaper article contained this exchange between Tawes and a clerk, who refused to identify herself:

"I'm one of the savings and loan victims and so is my mother," the clerk said to the governor. "You could have done something for us."

Tawes replied: "No I couldn't. I didn't tell you to put your money in."

"You could have protected us," the clerk insisted.

"No indeed," Tawes answered and moved hastily away.

Mahoney said the conversation between Tawes and the clerk was an example of the "increasing manifestations of Gov. Tawes' brutal and calloused unconcern for the thousands of Marylanders victimized in the savings and loan scandals . . . "

Issues Statement

"Such incidents as this have in fact occurred several times in recent weeks. They reveal as nothing less than sheer hypocrisy the governor's expression of regret concerning the scandals in a television address last Wednesday.

"It ought to be obvious that Mr. Tawes' manifest unconcern for the plight of his unfortunate fellow citizens totally disqualifies him from holding an office of public trust in Maryland."

Mahoney spent the day campaigning in Washington County. While there, he picked up the support of a powerful Western Maryland Teamster's Union local.

E. W. Butler, business agent for Local 992, said the union also was supporting Carlton W. Sickles, candidate for congressman at large on the Mahoney slate.

State Assessors Praise Community Convention

The 19th annual meeting of the Maryland Association of Assessing Officers Inc. came to a conclusion yesterday afternoon at the Fort Cumberland Hotel following the adoption of a resolution praising the convention as the best in the history of the association.

Francis J. Plummer, Frostburg, association president, said that the resolution commended the Cumberland Police Department, the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, the Board of County Commissioners, the management of the Fort Cumberland Hotel and officials of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and the Cumberland Brewing Company.

The association had a convention opening party Wednesday night in the hospitality room of the Cumberland Brewing Company. The approximately 160 convention delegates toured the Kelly tire plant Thursday morning and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass plant yesterday morning.

Harrison M. Robertson Jr., assistant attorney general, yesterday morning offered an explanation to supervisors and assessors on the procedures they should follow when any of their assessment cases are appealed to the Maryland Tax Court.

He was followed by Tom Hall, a representative of the Maryland Classified Employes Association, who urged the assessors to join this association. The matter was taken under advisement.

Two new members of the association's executive board were elected before the convention closed. They are Claude Lowrey, supervisor of assessments for Queen Anne's County, and William Burgee, a Frederick County assessor. They succeed Jerome K. Moyer, Garrett County, and Robert Lee Lankford, Somerset County, whose two-year terms came to an end.

Officers of the association, elected to two-year terms last March, will serve until March 1963. Besides Mr. Plummer they are Garner W. DuVall, Montgomery County, vice president; Harry S. Shipp Jr., Prince George's County, secretary, and Walter I. Lindsay, Queen Anne's County, treasurer.

Truck Loader Dynamited; Police Stymied

Damage estimated at $4,000 was caused Wednesday night west of Romney, W. Va., when someone dynamited an in-loader, (a device used to load pulpwood on trucks) according to police, who are certain the third such dynamiting incident this week stemmed from a truckers' strike at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper.

Sgt. S. C. Burke, who is heading the investigation, said the latest explosion occurred about eight miles west of Romney. Eight to ten sticks of dynamite were used on the in-loader, which is valued at $12,000.

Police have searched without success for the source of the dynamite which they believe is being stolen.

The sergeant said investigators had questioned several truckers and plant officials but had obtained little helpful information.

The State Police detachments at Romney and Moorefield both had increased their night patrols in the hope of thwarting future dynamite explosions, Burke said.

The first one occurred early Tuesday at Wardensville in Hardy County when an empty truck was heavily damaged. The second incident occurred at Lehew in Hampshire County later Tuesday. The blast ripped apart a truck parked in front of the Lehew Post Office, said police.

Collins was sentenced to a year in jail on both counts, but Magistrate Weatherholt ruled the terms may run concurrently.

He was arrested by Tfc. Charles T. Snow of the State Police.

Tawes And Mahoney Issue Statements

By The Associated Press

"The people of Maryland should be reassured that the savings and loan industry now is operating under strict state supervision and regulation as a result of action taken during my administration," Gov. Tawes said Friday night.

"I would like you to know that the present law does not adequately protect the public," stated George P. Mahoney.

Thus two of the principals in the Democratic scrap for the governor's nomination continued to disagree on the dominant topic of the campaign.

"I am proud of the part I was able to play in giving our state a sound, comprehensive program of savings and loan supervision and regulation," declared Gov. Tawes on television.

"When I am elected governor of Maryland," Mahoney said on the other hand, "I propose to clear up the savings and loan situation."

Says Tricks Used

"All the tricks of political quackery are being used to deceive you, the people of Maryland in this matter — innuendo, the purple phrase, guilt by association, repetition of the big lie," Tawes said.

"All carefully calculated to create confusion in the minds of the voters for political gain."

Mahoney contended "persons dealing with the association are still bewildered as to what protection they really have as a result of the current regulatory law.

"As a matter of fact, after 11 months since its passage, there are still no rules, standards, or regulations embodied in the law or available to the Associations."

Mahoney then outlined what he will do if elected.

"I will promptly appoint a committee composed of persons thoroughly familiar with the savings and loan industry, with full and absolute authority to study the present law in every detail and to make any recommendations that they feel will fully protect the public," he said.

Tawes had emphasized he set up a commission "which studied the problem and prepared the legislation to solve it. I sponsored the regulatory bill in the General Assembly, and, against powerful opposition by lobbyists and others, obtained its passage."

Takes Exception

The law is one year old.

Mahoney also took exception to another action of the Tawes administration at this year's Legislature in authorizing creation of a self-insurance fund for savings associations.

"It would be unrealistic to insure these institutions until, first, they get their house in good order," Mahoney stated. "I believe we must clear up the operational problems of any associations which at present are in difficulties."

The self-insurance was designed for a majority of the associations in Maryland which are not eligible for coverage by a federal agency.

Nevertheless, Mahoney said he felt all associations should have to comply with regulations similar to those of the federally insured.

"Then our situation in Maryland should improve almost immediately," Mahoney said.

The last report also disclosed that 79 more sets of AG tags had been sold through the recorder's office of Ali Ghan Temple, A.A.O.N.M.S. These plates were received at the Court House and then turned over immediately to the Shrine recorder's office for sale. Some 969 sets of these AG tags have been sold here.

Spring Snow Causes Hazard On Route 40

Cold And Windy Weather Forecast

Snow which fell in Western Maryland last night caused a traffic hazard on U. S. 40 west of Frostburg and topped off a week of rainy, miserable unspring-like weather.

Crews of the State Roads Commission of the Frostburg garage were called out last night to cope with the slippery highway situation on Big Savage Mountain and west into Garrett County.

State Police described Route 40 west of Big Savage this way: "Snow-covered, slippery, strong winds and visibility poor."

However the snow emergency plan invoked during the winter was not put into effect last night, according to State Police.

Route 40 east of Cumberland was wet. No serious accidents were reported.

Some snow was detected in Cumberland last night anl large flakes were falling about 8:30. Streets were wet.

From two to three inches of snow were reported to have fallen on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Somerset and traffic was tied up for about an hour, said police.

Rainy weather with light snow was reported in the Everett area. Bedford was having rainy weather last night, and cindering crews were on duty in the mountains.

Wind was reported by State Police at Romney, W. Va.

Cold and windy weather is forecast in the area today. The high temperature is expected to be between 44 and 52 degrees with the exception of the northwest portion of the state, where a high of 38-44 is anticipated.

Pollack Quotes Aesop In Verbal Tilt With Hume

BALTIMORE (AP)—Jack Pollack quoted Aesop again Friday in his running battle of words with David Hume, candidate for Democratic nomination for governor.

"Sour grapes," retorted Pollack.

Hume started the exchange with the Northwest Baltimore political leader by criticizing Pollack's endorsement Monday of George P. Mahoney, one of the other Democratic candidates for governor.

Pollack replied with a version of one of Aesop's fables titled "The wily old fox." He claimed Hume had appeared before the Trenton Democratic Club, Pollack's political organization, and sought its support.

Hume denied he "sought the assistance" of the club.

"It is an undisputed fact that David Hume did come to the Trenton Democratic Club where he was seen by a number of credible and respected citizens, several of them being attorneys," Pollack insisted in his latest communique.

"I am equally confident he did not come to see me, and, out of a tenderness of feeling inquire about the nature of my health. Certainly I had no motivation to see him.

"On the contrary, he had every motivation to visit the Trenton Democratic Club and try to secure the support for his candidacy weeks before our organizations made its final choice and overwhelmingly selected George P. Mahoney."

Later Friday, Pollack announced he is supporting Blair Lee III for the U. S. Senate nomination.

Pollack said he liked Lee, a member of the ticket headed by Mahoney, for his "sincere, sober and serious devotion to public service . . . "

City Action Slated On Garbage Issue

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said he presumes the trial will continue until the contractor, the R and R Sanitation firm, "hears from us," adding that the city will have to take some action Monday.

Labor Council Makes Choice In Contested Posts

Will Take Action Following Primary

The Western Maryland Central Labor Council, AFL-CIO, has made a number of endorsements in contested state and county primary posts, according to Andrew M. Lewis Jr., area COPE chairman.

The endorsements were made by the labor council, he said, after the Committee on Political Education, political arm of the council, discussed issues with 95 per cent of the candidates.

In offices where there is no contest in the primary, no endorsements were made, he said.

In the Sixth Congressional District race, no endorsement was made between Republican or Democratic candidates, he said, because COPE officials have had no opportunity to talk with either candidate.

Here is the lineup of candidates endorsed by the AFL-CIO Council:

REPUBLICAN

State Senator — George R. Hughes Jr.

House of Delegates — Charles M. See, Noel Speir Cook, Estel C. Kelley, Fred B. Driscoll, Lester B. Reed, Fred Anderson and David J. Williams.

Mr. Lewis said that based on the caliber of people seeking the office, the Council found it practically impossible to reduce the number for the above post below seven and that "all are acceptable to labor."

County Commissioners — Louis V. Shinnamon, Harry Shobe and Robert Little Ebert.

State Central Committee—Stanley E. Zorick and Wilbur Johnson.

DEMOCRATS

County Commissioner — John J. Rowan and John J. Long.

State Central Committee — Josiah Mullenax and John G. Thomas.

Mr. Lewis said the AFL-CIO Council decided no endorsements were necessary on the Democratic ticket for State Senator or House of Delegates, since there will be no contest in the primary.

But he said that after the primary election, the council will make a determination of the candidates it will back in the general election.

He said council members who served on the committee which recommended the slate were warm in their praise for candidates who are seeking office in Allegany County, and expressed thanks for their cooperation in meeting with the committee.

Mahoney Hurls Hypocrite Tag At Governor

BALTIMORE (AP). — Gov. Tawes' expression of regret over savings and loan association failures was described Friday as sheer hypocrisy by George P. Mahoney, one of the governor's opponents in the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

"I was shocked," Mahoney said. "to read in a Washington newspaper of Mr. Tawes' startling lack of courtesy and rude expression of unconcern to one of our citizens who asked him . . . about possible state relief for savings and loan victims.

"It Tawes' statement reveals better than anything I could say the extent of Mr. Tawes' contempt for his fellow Marylanders."

Article Cited

The newspaper article contained this exchange between Tawes and a clerk, who refused to identify herself:

"I'm one of the savings and loan victims and so is my mother," the clerk said to the governor. "You could have done something for us."

Tawes replied: "No I couldn't. I didn't tell you to put your money in."

"You could have protected us," the clerk insisted.

"No indeed," Tawes answered and moved hastily away.

Mahoney said the conversation between Tawes and the clerk was an example of the "increasing manifestations of Gov. Tawes' brutal and calloused unconcern for the thousands of Marylanders victimized in the savings and loan scandals . . . "

Issues Statement

"Such incidents as this have in fact occurred several times in recent weeks. They reveal as nothing less than sheer hypocrisy the governor's expression of regret concerning the scandals in a television address last Wednesday.

"It ought to be obvious that Mr. Tawes' manifest unconcern for the plight of his unfortunate fellow citizens totally disqualifies him from holding an office of public trust in Maryland."

Mahoney spent the day campaigning in Washington County. While there, he picked up the support of a powerful Western Maryland Teamster's Union local.

E. W. Butler, business agent for Local 992, said the union also was supporting Carlton W. Sickles, candidate for congressman at large on the Mahoney slate.

The association had a convention opening party Wednesday night in the hospitality room of the Cumberland Brewing Company. The approximately 160 convention delegates toured the Kelly tire plant Thursday morning and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass plant yesterday morning.

Truck Loader Dynamited; Police Stymied

Damage estimated at $4,000 was caused Wednesday night west of Romney, W. Va., when someone dynamited an in-loader, (a device used to load pulpwood on trucks) according to police, who are certain the third such dynamiting incident this week stemmed from a truckers' strike at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper.

Sgt. S. C. Burke, who is heading the investigation, said the latest explosion occurred about eight miles west of Romney. Eight to ten sticks of dynamite were used on the in-loader, which is valued at $12,000.

Police have searched without success for the source of the dynamite which they believe is being stolen.

The sergeant said investigators had questioned several truckers and plant officials but had obtained little helpful information.

The State Police detachments at Romney and Moorefield both had increased their night patrols in the hope of thwarting future dynamite explosions, Burke said.

The first one occurred early Tuesday at Wardensville in Hardy County when an empty truck was heavily damaged. The second incident occurred at Lehew in Hampshire County later Tuesday. The blast ripped apart a truck parked in front of the Lehew Post Office, said police.

State Offers Help To Last-Minute Income Tax Filers

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The comptroller's office announced Friday that information will be available from all of its regional offices Monday for last-minute state income tax filers.

The state's deadline has been extended this year, along with that of the federal government, to midnight Monday because April 15th falls on Sunday.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said the permanent offices in eight cities and a special one in Frederick will be closed on Saturday and Sunday but will be open to taxpayers throughout the working day Monday. He said information can be obtained either in person or by phone.

The state income tax division offices include Cumberland, 9 Market St., telephone Parkview 4-3223.

In addition, two representatives of the division are in Winchester Hall in Frederick to supply information to taxpayers there through the Monday deadline.

City Police Want To Turn Bicycles Over To Owners

The Cumberland Police Department has a number of bicycles which have been picked up during the past year and is anxious to turn them over to their owners, Police Chief B. F. Gaffney announced yesterday.

He urged those who have lost bicycles to come to Police Headquarters and inspect the nine bicycles which are on hand.

Chief Gaffney said the department will require that proper identification be made by the owners.

In cases where owners cannot be found within a year, the department turns the bicycles over to some charitable organization, usually the Associated Charities.

Spring Snow Causes Hazard On Route 40

Cold And Windy Weather Forecast

Snow which fell in Western Maryland last night caused a traffic hazard on U. S. 40 west of Frostburg and topped off a week of rainy, miserable unspring-like weather.

Crews of the State Roads Commission of the Frostburg garage were called out last night to cope with the slippery highway situation on Big Savage Mountain and west into Garrett County.

State Police described Route 40 west of Big Savage this way: "Snow-covered, slippery, strong winds and visibility poor."

However the snow emergency plan invoked during the winter was not put into effect last night, according to State Police.

Route 40 east of Cumberland was wet. No serious accidents were reported.

Some snow was detected in Cumberland last night anl large flakes were falling about 8:30. Streets were wet.

From two to three inches of snow were reported to have fallen on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Somerset and traffic was tied up for about an hour, said police.

Rainy weather with light snow was reported in the Everett area. Bedford was having rainy weather last night, and cindering crews were on duty in the mountains.

Wind was reported by State Police at Romney, W. Va.

Cold and windy weather is forecast in the area today. The high temperature is expected to be between 44 and 52 degrees with the exception of the northwest portion of the state, where a high of 38-44 is anticipated.

Pollack Quotes Aesop In Verbal Tilt With Hume

BALTIMORE (AP)—Jack Pollack quoted Aesop again Friday in his running battle of words with David Hume, candidate for Democratic nomination for governor.

"Sour grapes," retorted Pollack.

Hume started the exchange with the Northwest Baltimore political leader by criticizing Pollack's endorsement Monday of George P. Mahoney, one of the other Democratic candidates for governor.

Pollack replied with a version of one of Aesop's fables titled "The wily old fox." He claimed Hume had appeared before the Trenton Democratic Club, Pollack's political organization, and sought its support.

Hume denied he "sought the assistance" of the club.

"It is an undisputed fact that David Hume did come to the Trenton Democratic Club where he was seen by a number of credible and respected citizens, several of them being attorneys," Pollack insisted in his latest communique.

"I am equally confident he did not come to see me, and, out of a tenderness of feeling inquire about the nature of my health. Certainly I had no motivation to see him.

"On the contrary, he had every motivation to visit the Trenton Democratic Club and try to secure the support for his candidacy weeks before our organizations made its final choice and overwhelmingly selected George P. Mahoney."

Later Friday, Pollack announced he is supporting Blair Lee III for the U. S. Senate nomination.

Pollack said he liked Lee, a member of the ticket headed by Mahoney, for his "sincere, sober and serious devotion to public service . . . "

City Action Slated On Garbage Issue

The 30-day trial of daylight garbage collections ends tomorrow, according to an order adopted March 5 by the Mayor and Council, but it is considered likely that the innovation will continue until the Mayor and Council acts on the issue.

Sentiment by citizens has been running in favor of daylight collections. The informal poll showed 573 votes for daylight collections to 373 against, yesterday.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said he presumes the trial will continue until the contractor, the R and R Sanitation firm, "hears from us," adding that the city will have to take some action Monday.

'PILATE OFFERS CHRIST TO MULTITUDE' — This work, shown in part, by Solimena, will be among many of great art illustrating the last days of Christ's life and the Resurrection in "He Is Risen" on NBC-TV tomorrow.

Christ Story In Art Set On 'Project 20'

With the approach of Easter, the time of rejoicing each year when the Christian world celebrates the Resurrection, NBC's Project 20 will present "He Is Risen," which concludes the story of Jesus that began with the widely acclaimed program, "The Coming of Christ."

To quote from Richard Hanser's introduction to "He Is Risen," prefacing the events of the half-hour color presentation to be seen Palm Sunday, 8:30-9:00 p. m., NBC-TV:

> "'Behold!' said Saint Paul, 'I show you a mystery'. And in the story of Easter—in the Crucifixion and Resurreciton of Jesus Christ — mankind cherishes one of its most profound and moving mysteries. The Resurrection has, indeed, been called 'the central fact of all history'."

The magnificence and compelling beauty of great paintings of the 15th-18th Centuries will be used to depict the climactic episodes of mankind's supreme story—the Agony in the Garden, the Last Supper, the Crucifixion and the Ascension. The narration will again be spoken by Alexander Scourby.

Project 20's musical director, Robert Russell Bennett, has prepared an original score for "He Is Risen," to be conducted by him.

Research director Daniel Jones and his assistant, Rhoda Grady sought out the paintings with the cooperation of more than 50 museums, art galleries, churches, and other sources in a dozen countries. Some 300 paintings were selected for the program, many of them world-famous masterpieces. Among the painters whose works will be seen are Rembrandt, Titian, Van Dyck, Van Eyck, El Greco, Rubens, Nelasquez and many others.

The first program, "The Coming of Christ," has been shown in more than 10 countries and won awards at three international festivals in 1961, the only American television program to do so.

In preparing "He Is Risen," the same reverence and dedication which gave "The Coming of Christ" such stature is again evident.

The title derives from the 28th Chapter of Matthew, which describes how, when the women came to Christ's tomb on Easter morning, they found it empty and guarded by an angel. The angel speaks to the women, saying:

"Ye seek Jesus, which was crucified . . He is not here: for He is risen!"

Stack Wears One Suit For 'Untouchables'

Robert Stack reports there's a fringe benefit in portraying Eliott Ness in "The Untouchables."

"Ness," says Bob, "couldn't afford a large wardrobe. Consequently, I've played most of the shows in the same suit. This means I don't have to worry about making a wardrobe change after lunch. The suit's always the same one I wore in the scenes shot that morning."

Look-Alike Winner

Vocalist Anita Gordon, appearing on ABC-TV's "Tennessee Ernie Ford Show," was launched in show business when, at the age of five, she won a Shirley Temple look-alike and talent contest in Dallas.

'Chester' Proved Good Comedian

Can Dennis Weaver handle comedy lines?

That's a question being asked by people who have learned that Weaver next season is going to host a one-hour variety show, "TV Tonight," which is slated for CBS-TV.

The answer is "Yes," if past performances mean anything. What many do not remember is that Weaver proved himself mighty adept a couple of seasons back with his satirical "Hamlet" monologue during an Emmy Awards ceremony. It was hailed then as the funniest bit in TV Academy history.

Star Drives Car Into "Mountain"

While driving out of Warner Brothers studio recently, Peggy McCay, star of "Room For One More," turned a corner and hit a mountain peak, wrinkling a fender.

The peak, made of plaster and wood, was a prop. "No place to leave a mountain," was Peggy's outraged comment to studio police.

Stack Wears One Suit For 'Untouchables'

Robert Stack reports there's a fringe benefit in portraying Eliott Ness in "The Untouchables."

"Ness," says Bob, "couldn't afford a large wardrobe. Consequently, I've played most of the shows in the same suit. This means I don't have to worry about making a wardrobe change after lunch. The suit's always the same one I wore in the scenes shot that morning."

'Chester' Proved Good Comedian

Can Dennis Weaver handle comedy lines?

That's a question being asked by people who have learned that Weaver next season is going to host a one-hour variety show, "TV Tonight," which is slated for CBS-TV.

The answer is "Yes," if past performances mean anything. What many do not remember is that Weaver proved himself mighty adept a couple of seasons back with his satirical "Hamlet" monologue during an Emmy Awards ceremony. It was hailed then as the funniest bit in TV Academy history.

Star Drives Car Into "Mountain"

While driving out of Warner Brothers studio recently, Peggy McCay, star of "Room For One More," turned a corner and hit a mountain peak, wrinkling a fender.

The peak, made of plaster and wood, was a prop. "No place to leave a mountain," was Peggy's outraged comment to studio police.
